Register's invaluable Associate Editor; Patricia Hatcher, for much-needed computer guidance; and Richard Stitt, who for several years indexed the Register.

The July Register may have a new editor, but readers will find few changes. One change is that each issue will contain a description of its articles.

The first article in this issue is an analysis of records already in print to determine the identity of the second wife of Major William Bradford and mother of his son Joseph, born about 1675. By following up the geographical clues pointing to Norwich, Connecticut, Jay Webber has developed a strong case that she was Sarah (_____) Griswold, sometimes spelled Griswell. An unusual aspect of this story is that Bradford family tradition contained some truth. The second wife was remembered as the widow Wiswall – which sounds a lot like like Griswell.

With this issue we begin publishing Sarah Shoenfeld's work on the Home for Aged Colored Women in Boston, 1860–1887. The Home, located on Beacon Hill's north slope, left remarkably complete records. For most of its African-American residents, these records are the sole source of their life stories, several of which begin in slavery in the South. Frank Dorman's Twenty Families of Color in Massachusetts, 1742–1998, published by NEHGS in 1998, is cited in this and future installments.

Soon after the death of Abigail (Graves) Dibble in January 1667 in Stamford, Connecticut, depositions were taken because there was an accusation of witchcraft against her father. Norbert Bankert suggests the medical reason for her death, and provides improved accounts of the Graves and Dibble families.

While working on several associated families in the Hartford and Boston areas, Gale Harris recognized that there were no reliable compiled accounts for the family of Peter Brackett of Braintree and Boston. His definitive Brackett article also sheds light on other families which may result in future discoveries, e.g. that Peter's second wife Priscilla may have been the sister of Sarah, wife of Richard Lord of Hartford.

Church marriages from Thompson, Connecticut, 1796–1850, rebut the assumption that all Connecticut marriages can be found in the slip indexes at the Connecticut State Library or are in print. These marriages are not in the town vital records before 1820 and are not widely known. Many couples from Massachusetts and Rhode Island towns came to Thompson to get married.

Finally, the survivors of Barnstable men in the campaign of 1690 to Canada petitioned the Massachusetts General Court in 1735 for a tract of land that was later Dunbarton, New Hampshire.

We are always looking for short articles on New England subjects, and new authors are welcome. In fact, three of the articles in this issue are by authors who have never published a genealogical article before. Please feel free to contact me with ideas for articles you might write; contact information is at the bottom of the masthead page.

MAJOR WILLIAM[2] BRADFORD'S SECOND WIFE: WAS SHE THE WIDOW OF FRANCIS[2] GRISWOLD?

David Jay Webber

Major William[2] Bradford (1624–1704), of Plymouth and Kingston, Massachusetts, was the son of Plymouth Colony Governor William[1] Bradford (1590–1657) and his second wife Alice (Carpenter) (Southworth) Bradford (1590–1670). Major Bradford was married three times. According to a long-standing tradition his second wife was "a widow Wiswall." This has been repeated in many places. The earliest appearance of this tradition in writing, as far as I can tell, is in an 1830 manuscript by Lewis Bradford of Plympton, Massachusetts, entitled "A Genealogical Account of part of the family of Bradford, which descended from Gov. William Bradford." A very legible photocopy is in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants Library in Plymouth. Lewis Bradford writes on page 11 of his genealogy that "The second wife of Maj. William Bradford was a widow Wiswall, by whom he had one son, viz. Joseph, who, it is said, moved to Connecticut, and also his half brother Thomas is said to [have] move[d] thither."

Major Bradford's first wife, Alice (Richards) Bradford, died at Plymouth on 12 December 1671. Joseph[3], the only child of the second marriage, was born in 1675. The first child of Major Bradford's third marriage, to Mary (Wood) Holmes, was born about 1677.[1] We can conclude, therefore, that Major William Bradford married the "widow Wiswall" sometime around 1673, and that she died at the time of Joseph's birth in 1675 or very soon thereafter.

Over the years various writers have tried to "nail down" the identity of this "widow Wiswall." John A. Goodwin identified her as the widow of "Parson Wiswall" of Duxbury, Massachusetts.[2] This is impossible, since the Rev. Ichabod[2] Wiswall, pastor of the church at Duxbury, lived until 23 July 1700, and his second wife, Priscilla (Pabodie) Wiswall, survived as his widow until her death on 3 June 1724.[3] William T. Davis suggested that she was "perhaps d[aughter], of Thomas Fitch of Norwalk, Conn."[4] This also is impossible, since Thomas[1] Fitch's three daughters are already maritally accounted for, and none of them was married to a Wiswall or a Bradford.[5] Ruth Gardiner Hall went so far as to specify, without qualification, that the "widow Wiswall" was Mary Fitch, born in 1643.[6] But Thomas Fitch's daughter Mary, born in 1643, was married to Matthew Sherwood, and she died as his widow on 25 December 1730.[7] I suspect that this Fitch family mix-up can be attributed in part to a careless misapplication of data that really pertain to the next generation, since Major Bradford's son Joseph[3] did marry into the Fitch family — twice. His first wife was Anne[2] Fitch, the daughter of the Rev. James[1] Fitch of Saybrook, Norwich, and Lebanon, Connecticut, and the niece of Thomas[1] Fitch of Norwalk, Connecticut. His second wife was Mary (Sherwood) Fitch, the daughter of Matthew and Mary (Fitch) Sherwood (!) and the widow of Daniel[2] Fitch. (Daniel was the son of the Rev. James Fitch and the brother of Joseph Bradford's first wife.)[8]

The chief reason why a satisfactory identification of the "widow Wiswall" has eluded Bradford family researchers is that there simply was no widow Wiswall who could have married Major William Bradford about 1673. The Wiswall or Wiswell family of Massachusetts was fairly small, and an examination of the genealogical data on the early generations of this family rules out such a possibility.[9] Where, then, did this story originate?

Since the tradition as it is currently formulated has never been a real possibility, we can conclude that a trace of genuineness may be hidden somewhere within it. If someone on the basis of superficial research and/or guesswork had invented this story, we could expect that the story would at least be comprehensible and perhaps even plausible. But since the identification of Bradford's second wife as "a widow Wiswall" is, and always would have been, completely incomprehensible, we can conclude that it is probably not an invented story. Perhaps it is a garbled version of something old and genuine.

As we attempt to dig beneath the surface of the tradition to seek out this kernel of truth, we can begin by looking carefully at the wording of Major William Bradford's will, dated 29 June 1703. Among other things, he mentions that he had "given a portion in Lands in Norwich (which were the Lands of my brother John Bradford)" to his son Thomas.[10] Major Bradford's older half-brother John[2] had indeed lived in Norwich, Connecticut, and he had died without issue many years earlier.[11] What is most interesting in the will, however, is how

Joseph[3] Bradford's legacy is then described: "To my son Joseph Bradford a portion of Lands near Norwich aforesaid (which was his Mothers & part I Purchased) as may appear under hand & seal also I give to him the history of the Netherlands, & a Rapier."[12]

Because Major Bradford's older half-brother, John Bradford, lived in Norwich, we can easily see how he might have chosen a second wife from among the eligible women of that town. John[2] Bradford may very well have served as a "match-maker" for a recently-widowed neighbor and his own recently-widowed half-brother.

We see from Major Bradford's will that his second wife owned land near Norwich at the time of their marriage. This would have been land that she either inherited from her own family or that she bought as a widow. She would have had use of a portion of her deceased husband's land during her lifetime; however, that land would have reverted to his heirs upon her death.

Unfortunately, land records for the earlier years of Norwich's existence are almost non-existent, and there are some significant gaps in our knowledge of who owned what land.[13] The Norwich land records have not yet revealed any genealogically useful information about the Bradford holdings there, other than the deed cited in note 10.

Norwich had been settled in 1660, and between then and 1673 (the approximate time of William[2] Bradford's second marriage) only a small number of the male proprietors in Norwich had died. According to Frances Manwaring Caulkins there were probably only three: William[1] Backus, Francis[2] Griswold, and Major John[1] Mason. Mason's wife died before he did, and Backus's widow died in Norwich not long after her husband.[14] With Francis Griswold, however, we have a different story.

Francis[2] Griswold (born about 1629) was the son of Edward[1] Griswold and his first wife Margaret (_____) Griswold. He was one of the founders of Norwich who had moved there from Saybrook, Connecticut, with the other original settlers. He died in October 1671.[15] The given name of his wife, who came with him from Saybrook, was Sarah.[16] Her surname has not been ascertained. In spite of persistent claims to the contrary we do at least know that she was not the daughter of Thomas Tracy.[17] Francis and Sarah Griswold were the parents of nine children, the eldest of which was born in Saybrook in 1653.[18] The youngest, Lydia, was born in Norwich in October 1671, the same month in which Francis died.

Francis Griswold had held several public offices. He was Deputy for Norwich to the Connecticut General Court for eleven sessions, between 1664 and 1671, and was Lieutenant of the Norwich Train Band.[19] His social standing was therefore comparable to that of Major William Bradford, who likewise served in several offices of public trust.

At a session of the New London County Court held on 4 June 1672, "The Inventorie of Liu[t]. ffrancis Griswould Deseased was Exhibitted In Court & ordered to bee Recorded, this Court Grants y[e] Relict Administra[tion] & ordereth the Estate as ffolloweth, to the widdow the one third of all houseing & Lands Dureing her naturall Life. . . ."[20]

In Connecticut records Francis Griswold's surname sometimes appears as "Griswell."[21] This more phonetic spelling of the name probably reflected the common pronunciation of the time, which minimized the final "d." The name Wiswall or Wiswell, and the name Griswold or Griswell, would have sounded similar when spoken.

For all of these reasons I would like to propose the hypothesis that Major William[2] Bradford's second wife, identified by Bradford family tradition as "a widow Wiswall," was actually the widow of Francis[2] Griswold. According to this hypothesis the pronunciation and spelling of the name became garbled after a few generations of oral transmission, or perhaps through the smearing of an early written record that is no longer extant.

The tradition that Major Bradford's second wife was "a widow Wiswall" was passed down through the Massachusetts branch of the Bradford family rather than through the Connecticut branch. This is noteworthy. In 1830 Lewis Bradford was very much aware of this tradition, but he did not at that time know very much about those members of the family (Joseph and Thomas) who had moved to Connecticut. In fact, he was not completely certain that they had actually gone there. He noted that they were "said" to have moved to Connecticut. Lewis Bradford obviously had not been in contact with the descendants of Joseph and Thomas Bradford.[22] Now, the Connecticut Bradfords would have been familiar with the Griswold name, since bearers of that surname remained prominent there, and they consequently would have been less likely to confuse that name with the name of a Massachusetts family (Wiswall) that was similarly pronounced. By comparison, the Griswold name is very uncommon in early Plymouth records. It is not a name that the Massachusetts Bradfords would have heard very often, and after a time they might very easily have forgotten the correct pronunciation and spelling.

The Griswold name was not, however, completely unheard of in Plymouth, and that leads to a consideration of the next category of evidence for my hypothesis. According to the hypothesis, Francis[2] Griswold's widow Sarah married William[2] Bradford about 1673 and moved to Plymouth Colony to live with her new husband. Griswold's older children were married in Connecticut either before his death or soon thereafter, but we would expect that his younger children, or at least some of them, would have stayed with their mother and moved to Plymouth with her. Since William Bradford's second wife died just a couple years after her arrival in the colony, it does not surprise us that she is not mentioned in surviving Plymouth records. But do any of the Griswold children appear in Plymouth records? The answer is a resounding yes!

Francis Griswold's daughter Hannah[3] was born in Saybrook on 11 December 1658.[23] In the Plymouth vital records we read that "Mr. William Clark married Hannah Griswell 7 March 1677[/8]."[24] Hannah (Griswold) Clark died on 20 February 1687/8, and is buried in Plymouth.[25] Francis Griswold's youngest daughter Lydia[3], mentioned earlier, also appears in the Plymouth vital records: "Joseph Bartlet Jr. married Lidia Grizwel 6 June 1692."[26] Joseph Bartlett died on 9 April 1703, and on 24 June 1704, Lydia married (second) Joseph Holmes, Jr. Lydia (Griswold) (Bartlett) Holmes died in January 1752, and is also buried in Plymouth.[27] We are compelled to ask: How did two daughters of a Norwich proprietor, who died in 1671, end up living in Plymouth and marrying into Plymouth families? The hypothesis here presented offers a very plausible answer.

In summary, I believe it to be highly likely that Major William[2] Bradford's second wife, heretofore identified as "a widow Wiswall," was actually Sarah (_____) Griswold, the widow of Francis[2] Griswold of Norwich. The evidence is admittedly indirect, and no definitive proof for this identification can be produced at this time. But in my opinion the evidence strongly points in this direction.

APPLICATIONS AND ADMISSIONS TO THE HOME FOR AGED COLORED WOMEN IN BOSTON, 1860–1887

Sarah J. Shoenfeld

INTRODUCTION[1]

> It having been ascertained by Mrs. R. P. Clarke that a number of aged colored women now residing in the City of Boston are in a destitute and helpless condition, and it having been suggested by her that an institution should be established for their assistance and support, a meeting was held in the vestry of Indiana Place Chapel[2] for the consideration of this subject. At this meeting a list was presented containing the names of a number of colored women whose age and feebleness deprive them of the means of gaining a support, and who are solely dependent upon a precarious charity for their subsistence. It was therefore unanimously resolved that inasmuch as the existing Charitable Institutions of Boston refuse admittance to all persons of color, earnest efforts be made to establish a Home for the purpose of receiving and supporting Aged and Destitute Colored Women.[3]

Rebecca Parker Clarke is credited with recognizing the need for an institution to provide care for women such as her own former employee, Rosanna Miller, whom she had been helping support for many years and who would soon become one of the Home's first residents. With the assistance of her son, influential Unitarian minister James Freeman Clarke, she quickly rallied the support of Massachusetts' newly-elected governor, John A. Andrew (who would serve on the Home's board of directors for the next seven years) and Leonard Grimes, pastor of one of Boston's earliest black churches and a key figure within the city's

What happened...

January 1, 1735 - American Patriot Paul Revere (1735-1818) was born in Boston, Massachusetts. Best known for his ride on the night of April 18, 1775, warning Americans of British plans to raid Lexington and Concord.

January 16, 1920 - United States Prohibition began.

February 9. 1773 - William Henry Harrison (1773-1841) the 9th U.S. President (1841) was born in Berkeley, Virginia. He took office on March 4, 1841 and died only 32 days later after contracting pneumonia from cold weather during his inaugural ceremonies.

February 28, 1827 - The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the first United States Railroad chartered to carry passengers and freight was incorporated.

March 7, 1876 - Alexander Graham Bell received a patent for his telephone.

March 21, 1589 - William Bradford (1589-1657) was born in Yorkshire, England. He sailed aboard the Mayflower during its 66-day voyage from Plymouth, England to Massachusetts in 1620. The small ship carried over 100 passengers and a crew of 30. It was originally bound for Virginia but landed far north on Cape Cod. The Mayflower Compact was then drawn up as a form of government. Bradford became the first governor of the new Plymouth Colony, serving a total of 30 years, and was largely responsible for its success.

State-wide Vital Records Registration Establishment

These years represent when laws took effect requiring that Birth and Death Records be registered on a state-wide basis. The laws were not always adhered to in each state until some years later. Many vital records were kept on a town or county basis much earlier.

ANTIQUITIES OF THE FAMILY OF FOWLER.

At Islington, near London, are these monumental remains:

Here . . . JOHN FOWLER . . . 1538, on whose soule . . .
Here lieth ALIS FOWLER the wyf of ROBART FOWLER esquire, who died 1540

Behold and se, thus as I am so sal ye be,
When ye be dead and laid in graue,
As ye haue done, so sal ye haue.

Divers of this family lie here interred; the ancestors of SIR THOMAS FOWLER knight and baronet, now living, 1630.

WEEVER'S FUNERAL MONUMENTS.

PEDIGREE OF MINISTERS.

THE Rev. Dr. Spring, in a late work, states that not far from seventy ministers in the American church trace their lineage to the elder Edwards, who was himself the son of a clergyman, and whose earliest known ancestor was a preacher of the gospel. In connection with this fact, he says, "After some considerable research and correspondence on the subject, I have come to the conclusion, that more than one-fifth of all the ministers in the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in the land are of ministerial descent." Vt. Chronicle, Aug. 1849.

ROBINSON.

At Isleworth, near London, there is an early inscription to one of this family, who, from the similarity of name with the great leader of the Pilgrims of New England, it is presumed will possess an interest.

A GENEALOGY OF THE BRADFORD FAMILY.

BY G. M. FESSENDEN,

[Member of the R. I. Historical Society, and of the N. England Historic, Genealogical Society.]

[ARMS.—The Right Reverend Father in God, SAMUEL BRADFORD, Lord Bishop of Rochester, and Dean of Westminster, bears two Coats Impaled, viz.: Argent, on a Saltire Gules, an Escalop Or, being the Armes of his Episcopal See; conjoyned with his paternal Coat, viz: Argent, on a Fesse Sable, three Stag's Heads eras'd, Or."*

The Lords and Earls of the name of Bradford were of the familes of Newport and Bridgeman, and hence have no connection with our subject; their titles being derived from the earldom and lordship of Bradford.

Although Mr. Fessenden had in a clear and lucid manner, and with unwearied labor and perseverance, drawn up the Bradford Genealogy, and finished it about three years ago, yet while it has lain in the Publisher's hands, many important additions have been made to it. Some by the Publisher himself, but for a large amount of excellent material, he is indebted to WILLIAM BRADFORD, ESQ., of Duxbury, himself a lineal descendant of the Pilgrim, who has taken great pains to make the work as complete as possible. It was not always convenient to note our additions, or those of others, but the MSS. of the whole will, with the author's consent, be deposited in the archives of the N. E. H. Gen. Soc., where, if necessary, they may be referred to.

The plan adopted by Gen. Fessenden in drawing up his work, tho perfectly clear, was not accommodated to our pages, mainly for the reason that it required much more space, than the same amount of matter does in the form we give it. Moreover, the additions before mentioned could not be made to it in the author's MS.; therefore, the whole required to be rewritten.

† Besides this title of G. C. B. (Knight of the Grand Cross of the Bath,) he had that of G. C. H. (Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order.) He was son of the late Thomas Bradford, Esq., of Woodlands, near Doncaster, and of Ashdown Park, Sussex, and brother of LIEUT. COL. SIR HENRY BRADFORD, who died in 1816, from the effects of wounds received at the battle of Waterloo.— Landed Gentry.

Many of the descendants of Gov. Bradford will discover omissions in the work, after all the labor that has been bestowed upon it; we now call upon them, and all others interested, to make their complaints in writing, and in such a tangible shape, that they may serve to perfect the work when we publish the remaining portion of it; otherwise, all errors and omissions of every description will be laid at their own doors. Communications containing information may be addressed to Gen. G. M. Fessenden, Warren, R. I.]

The writer has bestowed upon this Genealogy much time and care; yet, such is the nature of the work, he can hardly expect that it is complete, or even free from error. One point however is attained, namely, that of avoiding the confusion and embarrassment usually to be met with in lengthy genealogical accounts. The arrangement of the names into distinct generations, and the use of numbers, render the descent of each individual obvious and readily traceable.*

Warren, R. I., July 1848.

The name of Bradford is derived from the Saxon "Bradenford," or "Broad-ford,"† and is doubtless very ancient.‡ Two towns of considerable size in England, are known by this name; one in Wiltshire, near Bath, the other in Yorkshire, near Leeds. The latter of these, we suppose to have been the locality from whence originated the great founder of the name in the United States.

One of the first martyrs who perished at the stake in "Bloody Queen Mary's" time, was JOHN BRADFORD, prebend of St. Paul's, and a celebrated preacher. He was born at Manchester in Lancashire, about 1510, was committed to prison Aug. 16, 1553, where he remained until his death, a period of nearly two years.

The numerous letters and other compositions, written by him during his imprisonment, are remarkable for their able and uncompromising opposition to the dogmatical requisitions of papacy, and for abounding in depth and fervency of plain personal piety, and expansive religious feeling. He was finally condemned, January 31, 1555, and burnt at Smithfield, on the first day of July following. He perished nobly, praying and exhorting the people while at the stake; his last words were, "Strait is the gate, and narrow is the way," &c.

John Bradford was the intimate friend of Rogers, Hooper, Saunders, Latimer, Cranmer, and Ridley, who about the same time with himself, sealed their opposition to papal bigotry, at the fiery stake. He was never married, but left at his death, a number of near relations.

The early, energetic, and persevering opposition to sacerdotal intolerance exhibited by Gov. Bradford of Plymouth, would seem to indicate him as a

* Though, as before remarked, we have been obliged to change the plan adopted by the author, our system is exactly the same, in respect to the regular succession of generations. We endeavored, in following him, that the oldest person in each should come first, but that object is not fully attained, tho' much nearer than had been done by him. It is almost impossible to avoid this irregularity, as it is often discovered that other children belong to the same parents after a generation is considered complete.— EDITOR.

† "Bradford, situated near the Avon, [Co. Wilts,] on the abrupt declivity of a hill, three and a half miles northwest from Salisbury, owes its name to the broad ford of the river. Dugdale.

There is also a Bradford in the Co. of York, thirty-four miles from the City of York. EDITOR.

‡ Names of individuals were often derived from the names of the places at which they happened to reside; and names thus acquired were transmitted to families. Hence, some individual who resided at some time, at some broad ford of some stream, river or estuary, in due time was called by the name of that locality, Broad Ford and afterwards Bradford as a more convenient word for utterance.— EDITOR.

worthy descendant of the martyr's immediate family; and that he was so, is rendered more probable from the fact, that the town of Bradford in Yorkshire, Manchester, the birth-place of the martyr, and Austerfield, where Gov. Bradford was born thirty-three years after the martyr's death, are all in the north of England, and near each other.*

Another circumstance which may be adduced in proof of the supposition, is this. One of several writers, cotemporaries of the Governor, who at his decease, commemorated the event in poetic effusions, thus writes:

> "Now blessed, holy Bradford, a successor
> Of blessed, holy Bradford, the confessor,
> Is gone to place of rest." †

The following item of History suggests a possible reason, (in addition to the martyr's death,) why Gov. Bradford, in his numerous writings, has refrained from alluding to his own family connections. It occurred within two years of the burning of John Bradford, and is recorded in "Baker's Chronicle."

April 24, 1557, Thomas Stafford, second son of Lord Stafford, with two and thirty persons, (English fugitives, set on by the French King,) came from France with the intention of subverting the government of the detested Queen Mary. They attacked and took Scarborough Castle, in Yorkshire, but were driven out and conquered, within two days, by the Earl of Westmoreland. Stafford was beheaded on Tower Hill, May 28, 1557, and the next day, Bradford and two others of his associates were executed at Tyburn.†

A further reason for the Governor's taciturnity respecting his ancestry, may be found in the fact, that his parents died when he was quite young, and his relations, to whose guardianship he was assigned, strongly opposed his adoption of the religious views of, and connection with, the puritans.

William Bradford, Governor of Plymouth Colony, was born at Austerfield, in Yorkshire, England, in 1588. About 1608 he went to Holland and joined the pilgrims, and came to Plymouth in the Mayflower, in 1620, accompanied by his wife, whose maiden name was Dorothy May. This lady never reached Plymouth, but was accidentally drowned, on the 7th of December, 1620, during the absence of her husband on an examining tour into Massachusetts Bay, and while the Mayflower remained in Cape Cod harbor. She was the first English female who died at Plymouth, and the first whose death is recorded in New England.

Mr. Bradford was chosen Governor in 1621, and was reëlected to that office every year till 1657, except five years — 1633, '34, '36, '38, '44.

He was one of the most efficient persons in directing and sustaining the new settlement; or, in the words of an ancient writer, he "was the very prop and glory of Plymouth Colony, during all the whole series of changes that passed over it." Aug. 14, 1623, he married widow Alice Southworth, whose maiden name is supposed to have been Carpenter; she came over in the "Ann," and lived, highly respected by the whole community, till the 26th of March, 1670, when she deceased, aged about 80.

Gov. Bradford died on the 9th of May, 1657, "lamented by all the colo-

* In his last letter to his mother, dated the 24th of June, 1555, he speaks of his brother Roger, to whom and her "he sends all his writings." This letter is printed in Middleton's Evangelical Biog., vol. 1, p. 372–3, where there is a very good account of the martyr. There is also another very good life of him in Wheeler's Hist. of Manchester, but these and all the other authors who have mentioned him, (so far as our examination has extended,) give no account of his pedigree — not even giving us the name of his father.— EDITOR.

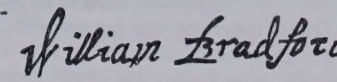
nies of New England, as a common father to them all." * Both are buried at Plymouth. Gov. Bradford had by his second wife three children: William, Mercy, and Joseph. His autograph, 1631–2, is here given.



Since the Bradford Genealogy was drawn up, some important facts have been brought to light by the labors of an eminent genealogist in London, — the Rev. JOSEPH HUNTER. The result of his discoveries having reached the hands of the Editor, he gladly avails himself of the opportunity of making such extracts from it as are applicable to this work.

After having shown pretty conclusively that our BRADFORD, of the Mayflower, was born at Austerfield, and that the adjacent villages of Bawtry or Bawtrey,† and Scrooby were dwelling places of others of the Pilgrims, and that it was at the latter place that the original church of Plymouth was formed, he goes on with a most interesting discussion concerning BREWSTER, ROBINSON, and others. On returning again to Bradford, he acknowledges himself indebted to Dr. Cotton Mather "for the knowledge we possess of the early life of Bradford." And he finds that the baptismal record at Austerfield confirms Dr. Mather's statement of his age, at the time of his death, namely, 69, on the 9th May, 1657.

"Dr. Mather informs us," writes Mr. Hunter, "that Gov. Bradford was born to some estate; that his parents died when he was young, and that he was brought up by his grandfather and uncles. These statements," he continues, "receive ample support from testamentary and fiscal documents, and from the register, which has been well preserved, of the baptisms, marriages, and burials of the little chapel at Austerfield, which is a member of the parish of Blythe." From these evidences our author has drawn up a genealogical account of the Bradfords of Austerfield, by which we are able to carry back the pedigree of the Pilgrim three generations in England. This pedigree, reduced to our system, is as follows:

NOTE. — To save the reader the trouble of referring elsewhere for an explanation of the plan of the following genealogy, he will observe, 1st, that the first column of Arabic figures are intended to number all the posterity contained in the genealogy. 2nd, that the small Arabic figures at the end of every name, placed like an exponent of a power in mathematics, thus^6, show the number of the generation of such name; for example, ($^{41}_{104}$) II. Gershom^6, is a descendant of the 6th generation. 3d, the Roman numerals are used only to show the number and order of every family. 4th, as every individual (male) who has descendants, must occupy a new place in the series without breaking its order, the lower numbers, or those interpolated, show at what point in the first column of numbers the children of every individual are given, thus, No. 41 in the regular Arabic series has under it 104; therefore follow the series to that No., (104,) and next after it is given the family of GERSHOM^6 Bradford. Hence, at a glance, it is seen that this individual is the 41st descendant, and of the 6th generation from the first discovered ancestor, and that he is the IId. child of his parents. If no number be interpolated, then no descendants are given, as (9) I. John^4, shows John^4 to have no descendants.

This system of laying down extensive genealogies has been some time before the public, and, we believe, has met with entire approbation. That it possesses obvious advantages over others hitherto employed, can scarcely admit of question.

It must be remembered that we commence the reckoning of generations with the first progenitor of the name we find in England. Thus GOV. BRADFORD of Plymouth is of the third generation, and not of the first, as it has been usual to make the original emigrant, in other pedigrees. Therefore, to know the generation in this country, we have only to subtract two from any descendant of the Governor.

(1) I. William Bradford[1] lived at Austerfield, in or about 1575, at which time he and one John Hanson were the only subsidiaries there; Bradford being taxed on twenty shillings land, and Hanson on twenty shillings goods, annual value. The time of his death appears only from a record of his burial, noted as happening on the 10 January, 1595–6. His children were,

(2) I. William[2], m. Alice, dau. of John Hanson, before named, very probably. He was buried on the 15 July, 1591. This William was father of our GOVERNOR BRADFORD, and by his early decease the Plymouth father was left an orphan at the tender age of about two years.

(3) II. Thomas[2], of whom no records appear, saving that he had a dau. Margaret, bapt. 9 March, 1578.

(4) III. Robert[2], bapt. 25 June, 1561, m. Alice Waingate, 31 January, 1685.

He was the only Bradford subsidiary at Austerfield in 1598; while at the same time and place there were three others, whose names were John Maudson, Robert Martley and Robert Bridges. The will of Robert Bradford was dated 15 April, 1609, and he was buried on the 23 of the same month. Hence this uncle of GOV. BRADFORD died about the third week in April, 1609.

The will of Robert Bradford, remarks Mr. Hunter, "is the best document which we possess from which to form an idea of the status of the Bradfords at Austerfield, at the time when one of them took the important step which has made him and his family just objects of historical curiosity. He describes himself 'Robert Bradfurth of Austerfield, yeoman,' and we may observe that Bradfurth, or Bradfourth, is the more usual orthography of the name in the church register; so uncertain and variable was the orthography of all proper names at that period; also that, 'yeoman' implies a condition of life a little better than that which would now be indicated by the word. The yeomanry of England in the reign of Elizabeth formed the class next to the acknowledged gentry, the men who used coat-armour of right. They were people who lived, for the most part, on lands of their own."

Having thus digressed from the will to bring in an important elucidation of his subject, our author returns to it, and goes into its provisions with much minuteness. We must, however, confine ourself to the facts, in a condensed form. To a servant girl, Grace Wade, the free use of a dwelling house; "he names another servant, and his brother and sister Hill." To Thomas Silvester, clerk, a small legacy. To son Robert his best iron-bound wain, [probably a cart with two wheels,] "the cupboard in the house," [parlor of those days,] one long table, with a frame and one long form, with his best yoke of oxen; also "the counter wherein the evidences are." Also a corselet with its furniture. The residue of his estate to be equally divided among his four children, Robert, Mary, Elizabeth, and Margaret; these were his executors. Being then all under age, he orders them to be under the direction or tuition of three of his friends or neighbors: — Robert and Margaret to be under the care of his "good neighbor," Mr. Richardson * of Bawtry; Elizabeth to William Downes † of Scrooby;

* Next to the Mortons Mr. Richardson was the principal inhabitant at Bawtry, and was afterwards allied to them; both he and Robert Morton, the head of the family, marrying in the family of Lindley of Skegby, one of the visitation families of Nottinghamshire. He had a son, Mr. Lindley Richardson.—Hunter, 48.

† Of this person Mr. Hunter says he knows nothing, saving "that he was a subsidyman at Scrooby."

Mary to Mr. Silvester * of Alkley. Son Robert to have the reversion of two leases; one, of all the king's lands he has in Austerfield, the other of the closes which he has of Mr. Morton in Martin lordship.

"One thing is clear," observes my Pilgrim guide, "that the Bradfords of Austerfield, during the eighteen years that he who was afterwards the Governor of New Plymouth was living with them, associated with the best of the very slender population by whom they were surrounded." But, "in the next generation they declined. Before 1628, Robert Bradford, cousin-german to the Governor, had sold his lands at Austerfield to Mr. William Vescy, a gentleman of Brampton. In 1630 one Robert Wright, a draper of Doncaster, leaves to him his gray suit of Apparel, and to Richard Bradford his son, one fustian doublet, and one pair of hose: bequests," he continues, "which sufficiently indicate the obscurity and poverty into which they had fallen." This may not be a strictly just conclusion, allowing a judgment to be formed from the numerous similar bequests, though not quite contemporaneous, on our side of the Atlantic.

(5) IV. Elizabeth[2], bapt. 16 July, 1570, m. James Hill, 20 Jan. 1595. (6?) William Bradford[2], (2) who m. Alice Hanson, had

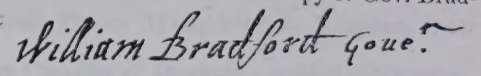
(6) I. Margaret[3] b. 8 March, 1585, died young.

(7) II. Alice[3] b. 30 Oct., 1587.

(8) III. WILLIAM[3], The Pilgrim, bapt. March, 1589. We have now arrived at the point connecting the American Bradfords with those of England; hence, according to our present purpose we are to leave the consideration of the latter, and proceed with the former.

It is not within the present design to give a biography of the eminent founder of the race in America — that has been ably done † and often published and distributed to the world. A remark or two from our Pilgrim Guide will be all we shall at this time encumber our memoir with. He observes, "While William was working his way to the consequence which he ultimately attained, his cousin-german, Robert, remained at Austerfield, where he married and had issue.

"William Bradford alone gives consequence to the Bradfords of Austerfield. He inherited a portion of the lands of the family; for Dr. Mather informs us that he sold his lands when he was of full age, and was living in Holland. As to the moral and religious state of the village in which he was born, it is a very unfavorable report indeed which Dr. Mather gives. He describes it as a very ignorant, profane place, not a Bible to be seen there, and with a minister at the chapel inattentive and careless. I can neither confirm nor refute this representation, which is made, it may be observed, by one whose standard of religious duty was high. But the will of which we have had an abstract, is not without traces both of piety and charity. The clergyman alluded to must have been Henry Fletcher, who was minister of Austerfield in 1591, where he married Elizabeth Elvick." But from anything that we can discover, in what is contained in our author's extracts from the will of Robert Bradford, or in his own observations, we can see no reason to dissent from a belief in Dr. Mather's denunciations of the state of society at and about Austerfield in those days; especially when we consider that a similar description of morals would answer very well in almost every parish in England.* We add here a copy of Gov. Bradford's autograph in 1645–6.



We now pass to the commencement of the Genealogy, as furnished by GEN. FESSENDEN, whose name stands at the head of our article. Before proceeding, however, it may be pleasing to glance at an impression of the SEAL used by GOV. BRADFORD in 1631–2. It was in wax, upon the important letter we published in the Gen. Reg. (Vol. II., p. 240, &c.) Although there so much defaced as to be be made out with some difficulty, we have no doubt that it was originally intended to represent a double eagle. Our copy has the rare blemish of being too well executed.

WILLIAM BRADFORD,[3] (8) as before mentioned, married, 1st. Dorothy May, of whose parentage, nothing to our knowledge, has been discovered. He m. 2dly. (9) I. John[4], the only child by the first marriage probably, and born before the emigration, was of Duxbury in 1645, and in 1652 he was a deputy to the General Court, and a Lieutenant. The next year he is noted as of Marshfield, which he also represented in 1653. He m. For an interesting biography of the second WILLIAM BRADFORD, of Plymouth, there are abundant materials, both in manuscript and print. The reader will find a very satisfactory account of him in Davis' edition of Morton's Memorial. He was, next to MYLES STANDISH, a chief military man of the Colony. In Philip's War he was commander in chief of the Plymouth forces, and often exposed himself to all its perils. At the Narraganset Fort Fight he received a musket ball in his flesh, which he carried the remainder of his life. In that desperate mid-winter encounter — where both parties fought for their very existence, nearly a thousand Indians fell a sacrifice, and about one hundred and fifty of the English were killed or wounded.

In the war with the Indians, he held the rank of Major, and was Assistant Treasurer and Deputy Governor of Plymouth, from 1682 to 1686, and from 1689 to 1691, and in the latter year he was one of the Council

* The residence of "Mr. Silvester," Alkley, "lies eastward from Austerfield at no great distance, the parson of which it appears Mr. Silvester was. His will was made in 1615, from that Mr. Hunter infers him to have been a man of "a fair estate," possessing a library of English and Latin books, when, in country places, "books were exceedingly few." Hence another pleasing inference is drawn by Mr. Hunter, namely, that "this collection of books, in the hands of a friend of the family living near them, may have been a treasure of information to the Governor in his youth." ib.

† The best account of him is doubtless that by Dr. Belknap, in his American Biography.

* A multitude of authorities might be brought to support this statement, but for the present take but one only, Bunyan's Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners, because accessible to everybody.

† There has been a tradition in the family that he moved to Middletown, Ct., but in the history of Norwich a Joseph Bradford appears which answers his time; there may be a question, however, whether he be the same, or his uncle Joseph; for in the will of (10) William[4], mention is made, that the testator had "given lands in Norwich to Joseph, before."—Bradford.

(56) VI. Elisha,[6] b. 6 Oct., 1729.

(57) VII. Lois,[6] b. 30 Jan., 1731.

(58) VII. Deborah,[6] b. 18 Nov., 1732, m. Jona. Sampson, Jr. This Deborah was the mother of the famous "DEB. SAMPSON," who, under the feigned name of Robert Shurtleff, served three years as a private soldier in the army of the Revolution. Having left her friends without their knowledge, she went to the house of a Mr. Leonard, in Middleboro', where, unceremoniously, she possessed herself of enough of his clothing with which to disguise herself. In this plight she wended her way to a recruiting officer and enlisted. She served in Col. Jackson's regiment, and in a company commanded by Capt. Webb. After the war she returned to her friends in Plympton. In 1784, she married Benjamin Gannett of Sharon.

This remarkable woman died in 1827, up to which time she drew a pension. After her decease, her husband applied for a continuance of the pension, and, at length, in the year 1837 the committee of Congress on Revolutionary Pensions allowed it to be continued to him, from the time of her death.

She was in the skirmish at Tarrytown, and was badly wounded by a musket ball, and yet her sex was not discovered, nor was the ball ever extracted, which gave her much trouble through life. She was in many engagements, and on all occasions behaved *man*fully. She was at the capture of Cornwallis, which virtually ended the war, and she was soon after honorably discharged. Her name stands among the pensioners as Garnett, a name common in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which is probably the same as Gunnett.

According to that very singular book, "The Female Review, or Memoirs, of an American Young Lady," Deborah Sampson was born in Plympton, Ms., 17 Dec., 1760, and hence was about 67 years of age in 1827, at the time of her death. Her father was an only son. The anonymous work purporting to be her memoirs, should not, we think, be taken as unqualified-

Being now likely to run some pt. of the hazard of warre. For my outward estate — those [affairs] in ould England as they stood the day of the date of these pntes, and for those in New England, they are manifest by what I left there at last ptng. Debts in England & what goods also I shall leave here vndisposed of. As for those in New England, they are by bookes left there, best discovered, & both are ptly discovered by my Alphabeticall booke here in England, though I doubt in some points, imperfectly, through hast.

To Deere & worthily honored wife the entire pfitt of all my land vppon Dorchester neck (being about 50 acres all in tilth) during life; & furthermore a third of the clear pfitts raised or raisable of all my other lands or mills, w[th] the buildings & p[r]snt stock — during life & single estate; also one third of all my moovable goods; free habitation & vse (w[th] the children) of house in Dorchester towne, w[th] the garden, orchard & yard roome, being about two acres of land. Lastly, my wearing ring, all my plate, best downe bed, & her tapestry, coverlett, with all the best furniture thereto belonging; stooles, chaires, curteines, cupboards, Andyrons, &c.. And one ffetherbed more.....& only begg of her not to weep for mee, as one of those w[th]out hope. If I now dye, what love shee owed vnto mee, that it may be bestowed (after mee) vppon o[r] poore deare children for my sake.

For my children, I will them to the government & ordering power of my s[d] Deere wife, during their minority. Eldest sonne Israel a double portion, unlesse he prove himselfe unworthily; in such case, his double portion to goe to William; if William prove himself unworthily, then the same to be given to the next sonne, John. Or if yet there be another, him to be judged of as aboue; provided if the difference in matter of grace and vertue appeare not very euident, or the eldest his vice not very euident, then let the double portion remaine his absolute due.

And for the way of accounting the Double portion, I will it thus. In case my number be seven (as I hope) Israel is to have two pts of the seaven; then the remaining five pts to be cast againe into seaven pts, if I had seven children all, or six parts if six all, or fiue pts if fiue all, and one pt of the s[d] seven, six or fiue to be equally distributed amongst my other sonns. Remainder of estate to be equally divided by even portions to the sonnes & Daughters alike. [Provisions of contingencies and consequent subdivisions omitted.]

Moreover to sonne Israel one fourth part of [my] smale Library, & vnto John another fourth pt, & vnto W[m] the other halfe, for his incouragm[t] to apply himself to studies, especially to the holy Scriptures; vnto w[ch] they are mostly helpful; if either of these dye before age, & if now unknowne I haue another sonne, if one that had a fourth pt dye, let the fourth sonne take his pte; or if no fourth sonne, let the student take the dead sonnes pte. Provided also, concerning the Bookes, that my wife retaine to her vse during life what she pleaseth, & that my daughters chose each of them one for theire owne, that all may haue something they may call theire ffathers.

rest of the Indians were with the English. Jealousy of the intrigue of Stuyvesant, and the fear of the Southern settlements, induced the Commissioners to make an unjust war on the Indians. Only one of the Commissioners, BRADSTREET, to his honor be it recorded, opposed it, and he was sustained by Massachusetts.

During the hostilities between the Narragansett Indians and the Long Island tribe, in 1654, the Commissioners of the English Colonies appointed JONATHAN GILBERT a Messenger to Ninigrate, the chief of the Narragansetts; who returned, 18th Sept., after a short absence, and brought Ninigrate's answer in the words following: "Having acquainted him that the Commissioners were met at Hartford, and that they had perused the letter sent to the Governor of Massachusetts, he answered, he knew nothing of any such letter, and made strange of it."

Concerning his invading the Long-Islanders, he answered: "Wherefore should he acquaint the Commissioners, when as the Long-Islanders had begun with him and had slain a Sachem's son and sixty others of his men, and therefore he will not make peace with the Long Islanders, but doth desire the English will let him alone, and that the Commissioners would not request him to go to Hartford, for he hath done no hurt. What should he do there? If your Governor's son was slain, and several other men, would you ask counsel of another nation when and how to right yourselves? and added, that he would neither go nor send to Hartford."

Concerning the Upland Indians his answer was, "That they were his friends, and came to help him against the Long-Islanders, which had killed several of his men. Wherefore should he acquaint the Commissioners with it? He did but right his own quarrel, which the Long-Islanders began with him."

A reply worthy of the chief of an independent and patriotic people who understood their national rights.

April 9, 1657, Jonathan Gilbert, with his brother John, to be joined by "an able man," provided by the "Depuities in Windzor," were instructed by the Court "wth all speed to goe to Nortwootuck & Pacumtuck; that they shall acquaint the Sachem and chief there wth the horrible bloody act [of murder] by some Indians that is lately done at Farmington, and tell them that wee expect that they and all or any other Indians whatsoever shall forthwth send Mashupanan or any other that are accessory to that bloody act, either wth these o^{r} messeng^{rs} or so soone as hee or any other accessory thereto bee p^{r}cured by them, & tell them that wee shall looke at them or any other that detaine Mashupanan or any that are accessorie to this act, as our enimyes."

The Commissioners of the United Colonies in September, 1657, again interfering between the hostile tribes, with the authority of superior strength, peremptorily ordered that Uncas, the chief of the Pequots, be required "to p^{r}mit the Podunk Indians to return to theire dwellings & there to ebide in peace & safety, without molestation from him or his, & that the said Indians bee incouraged & invited so to do, by the Government of Connecticott." "And the Gov. of Conn. is desired to signify to the Pocomtick and Norwootick Sachems on charge upon Vnckas in reference to the Podunk Indians, and on desire of their returne to their dwelling and continuance there in Peace; therefore wee desire and expect they will forbeare all hostility against Unckas till the next meeting of the Commissioners." *

A GENEALOGY OF THE BRADFORD FAMILY.

BY G. M. FESSENDEN,

[Member of the R. I. Historical Society, and of the N. E. Historic, Genealogical Soc.]

[Though the Arms in the margin accompanied the former pages of this Genealogy, the heraldic description there given was not intended to be precisely that of the engraving. Our first object was to lay before the reader all the descriptions of Arms borne by persons of the name of BRADFORD, early and late, that were within our knowledge. But as this cut of Arms is not drawn exactly according to the rules of heraldry, it is not therefore to be described in accordance with those rules. Nor is this very important, inasmuch as it does not appear that the family from which Gov. Bradford descended, had, previous to his times, any Arms, it not being a visitation family. We do not understand that any Arms have been handed down among the Governor's descendants. Our engraving, herewith, may be thus described:

Gules, on a fesse Azure, three Stags' heads erased, Argent. Crest—A Stag's head erased.

Since the preceding portion of this Genealogy was struck off, several important additions and corrections have been obtained, chiefly from MR. WILLIAM BRADFORD, of Duxbury, to whom the work has been deeply indebted before, as has been mentioned. Though not very important, it should be noted that the autographs of Gov. Bradford should be transposed — that on page 42 should occupy the place of that on page 45, and vice versa. No. (98.) VII. Spaulding, should be erased. (96) V. Hannah, m. ——— Spaulding. On p. 46, at top, read "on the north side of Jones' River." On p. 49, No. (68) for Freedom read Friendship. Hence our note accompanying that article is to be taken with qualification accordingly. Friendship is an Atlantic town, in the county of Lincoln, at the head of Muscongus Bay, and was the Meduncook of the Indians. According to Williamson, Hist. Maine, ii. 238, it was first settled by the whites in 1735. Same page, No. (76) VI. Susannah^{6} should read "Lusannah^{6}, alias Lucy^{6}."

The previous part of the MS. having gone to the printers before the whole was finished, the proper references to the places of certain families could not be given; therefore, on pages 49 and 50, there should be interpolated, under (80), 203; that is, ($^{80}_{205}$), ($^{83}_{215}$), ($^{83}_{220}$), ($^{87}_{233}$), ($^{91}_{241}$), ($^{92}_{247}$), ($^{95}_{253}$), ($^{106}_{261}$), ($^{108}_{266}$). In p. 46, line 13 from the foot, read N. W., and not N. E. For ($^{65}_{139}$), read ($^{65}_{140}$).

In a communication from Lewis Bradford, Esq., of Plympton, Ms., he says that (89) VIII. Abigail^{7}, on p. 50, did not die young, as there stated, but that she m. Caleb Stetson, probably of Plymouth, as his children were born there. She d. 31 Jan., 1776, in her 44th year; that (32) III. Abigail^{6} d. 4 May, 1697, unm. That Gideon Sampson, of Plympton, m. * Though the name is noted as torn off, the date appears to have remained. This last entry, supposed to have been the record of the birth of a child, was probably something else, for the mother having been killed in 1756, could not be having a child afterwards When we had written thus far, our MS. reads, (171) XI. Another child, name gone from the record. Since, we have been directed to insert Winslow as the eleventh child, on the authority of an immediate descendant of (68) Joshua,[6] residing at Friendship. The obvious discrepancy we must leave for others to explain. — S. G D.

* It is to this gentleman that Judge Mitchell refers in his history of Bridgewater, as having "an accurate genealogical account of the Bradford family." It should be here stated, that this pedigree is much indebted to him, who, though now about 82, writes with much accuracy and precision in these matters, as letters now before me bear testimony.— S. EPITAPH OF ELIHU YALE, ESQ.

WHO DIED 22 JULY, 1721.

FROM WREXHAM, IN DENBIGHSHIRE, WALES.

Born in America, in Europe bred,
In Africa travell'd, and in Asia wed,
Where long he liv'd and thriv'd, at London dead.
Much good, some ill he did; so hope all's even,
And that his soul thro' mercy 's gone to heav'n.
You that survive, and read, take care
For this most certain exit to prepare;
For only the actions of the just Smell sweet and blossom in the dust.*

GOVERNOR ELIHU YALE was born at New Haven, 5 April, 1648. He is said to have been son of Thomas, who was of the same town in 1638, and nephew of David, who was of Boston in 1640, but upon what authority is not known. He went when very young to England, probably about the year 1658, where he received his education. At about the age of thirty, he removed to the East Indies, where he lived nearly twenty years, and acquired a very large estate. He is distinguished for having introduced auctions into England; the first of which was about the year 1700, of some goods brought home by him from Fort George, in the East Indies, of which place he had been governor. While in the East Indies, he married a native, the widow of Gov. Hinmers, by whom he had three daughters: Catharine, who married Dudley North, generally known as Lord North, the grandson of the Earl of Guilford; Ann, who married Lord James Cavendish, son of the Duke of Devonshire; and Ursula, who never married. He spent the remainder of his days in England, where he was made Governor of the East India Company. † New England authorities say he died at Wrexham, in Wales, 8 July, 1721, æ. 73; but from the epitaph it would appear that he died on the 22d of July, at London, although buried at the family seat, in Wales. It is owing to the munificence of this individual that the College at New Haven bears the name of Yale College. N. B. S.

* The last two lines are taken from those delightful stanzas of Shirley, entitled "Death's Final Conquest."

† Farmer, Clap, &c. To the copies of this epitaph printed in this country is prefixed—
"Under this tomb lyes interr'd Elihu Yale, of Place-Gronow, Esqr.; born 5th April, 1648, and dyed the 8th of July, 1721, aged 73 years."

BRIEF BIBLIOGRAPHY

No story is ever the whole story. And the truth of history usually otherwise than as taught in the schoolroom. Those who would know more of the story of their fathers can do no better than read the words of the men themselves; and the firstcomers to America left many words about themselves. Such healthy appetite, if once whetted, requires food that the man may be whole, but the speed of life today gives few the opportunities that lead to a knowledge of where exactly to look. A very select list of source material is therefore added here, which is of course only a minute fraction, but will give a good round picture both before, during and after the Mayflower voyage.

DESCENDANTS OF ALICE BRADFORD.

[Communicated by Rev. William Allen, D.D. of Northampton.]

The oldest granddaughter of Gov. Bradford and Alice Southworth was Alice Bradford, the daughter of Maj. William Bradford by his first wife, Alice Richards. Gen. G. M. Fessenden, in his genealogy of the Bradford's, in the N. E. Historical Register for January and July 1850, gives no account of her descendants. Happening to be myself a descendant of Alice Bradford, I am able to supply this deficiency in part.

Alice Bradford married, March 29, 1680, Rev. William Adams, the 2d minister of Dedham, being his 2d wife; Mary Manning of Cambridge was his first. Mr. Adams, by his wife Alice, had three daughters; 1. Elizabeth, born Feb. 23, 1681; she married, first, Rev. S. Whiting of Windham, Sept. 4, 1696, when she was in her 16th year, and her four children were distinguished; first, Col. William Whiting, employed in the French war; second, Rev. John Whiting of the second church in Windham (Scotland parish); and, resigning his office, he was judge of probate and also a colonel; third, Col. Nathan Whiting; fourthly, Mary, born 1712, married Nov. 23, 1727 Rev. Thomas Clap, her father's successor at Windham, and afterwards president of Yale College; she died Aug. 9, 1736, her daughters being Mary Clap, who married Daniel Wooster of New Haven, and Temperance Clap, who married Timothy Pitkin of Farmington.

Rev. S. Whiting died in 1725, and his widow Elizabeth married, in 1737, Rev. Samuel Niles of Braintree; she died at New Haven at her son Nathan's, in 1760.

2. The second daughter of Rev. William Adams by Alice Bradford was Alice, who married in 1701 Rev. Nathaniel Collins, the first minister of Enfield, Conn. She died Feb. 19, 1735; he died in 1756.

3. The third daughter of William and Alice Adams was Abiel, born Dec. 15, 1685, after the death of her father, who died Aug. 17, 1685. About the year 1707 she married Rev. Joseph Metcalf, minister of Falmouth, a native of Dedham, born in 1682, graduated 1703, died May 24, 1723. Joseph and Abiel Metcalf had 11 children, as follows: 1. Abigail; 2. Abijah, both of whom, probably, [died] young; 3. Abiel, married James Fitch of Salisbury; 4. Hannah, married Timothy Metcalf of Mansfield or Lebanon; 5. Alice, married John Williams; 6. Mary, married John Reed or Rudd of Lebanon; 7. Elizabeth, married Rev. Jonathan Lee, the first minister of Salisbury, Conn.; 8. Delight, married Tho. Worcester; 9. Sarah, married James Fowler of E. Haddam; 10. Azubah, married Wm. Williams of Union, Maine; 11. Sybal.

Alice, the widow of Rev. William Adams, married Maj. James Fitch of Norwich, who was born in 1647 and died at Canterbury, his last residence, in 1727, aged 80 years.

Her daughter Abiel, the widow of Rev. Joseph Metcalf, married Rev. Isaac Chauncy of Hadley, who died in 1745. The time and place of her death are not known.

I now proceed to my particular object, the tracing of the descendants of one of the daughters of Mrs. Abiel Metcalf, she (as it may be remembered) being the granddaughter of Major William Bradford. As she is of the 4th generation from Gov. Bradford, her daughter Elizabeth will be marked as of the fifth.

BRADFORD—

Elizabeth[5] Metcalf married Rev. Jonathan Lee of Salisbury. At the time of her marriage she was living in the family of president Clap, whose wife Mary Whiting, deceased in 1736, was her cousin. The children of Jonathan and Elizabeth Lee were eight in number; 1. Jonathan,[6] a physician in Pittsfield, who had 7 children; 2. Elizabeth,[6] who married Rev. Thomas Allen, the first minister of Pittsfield, who died in 1810, aged 67, and whose children were twelve in number, among whom were Thomas[7]; Jonathan,[7] the father of Thomas[8] Allen, now of St. Louis; Elizabeth,[7] who married William P. White, a Boston merchant, and died in London in 1798; Clarissa,[7] who married John Breck of Northampton, and whose sons are Edward,[8] Theodore,[8] and John[8] Breck of Brecksville, Ohio; George W.[7]; Capt. Samuel L.[7]; William,[7] (the writer of this article and the only survivor of this large family,) whose children are seven, viz.: Rev. John Wheelock[8] Allen of Sheboygan Falls; Elizabeth,[8] married to Professor H. B. Smith, of the Union Seminary, N. Y.; Charlotte F.[8] married to Rev. Erastus Hopkins; William,[8] Clara,[8] Adriana,[8] and Annette.[8] Love,[7] married Gen. Eleazar W. Ripley, and deceased 1820; Solomon Metcalf,[7] a professor in Middlebury College, deceased; Elisha L.,[7] a surgeon in the army, deceased. 3. Samuel[6] Lee of Salisbury, whose son is Dr. Charles[7] Lee, a physician of New York, and whose daughter Hannah[8] married W. C. Stirling, whose daughter is Mrs. (John B.) Waring of Cleveland. 4. Rhoda[6] Lee married John Ensign; their daughter Rhoda[7] married deacon Alpha Rockwell, whose daughter Elizabeth[8] married Osmyn Baker, a member of congress, and whose daughter Caroline[9] married William Lawrence of Northampton, himself a descendant of Gov. Bradford. 5. Salome[6] Lee married Judge Hale; their daughter Lydia[7] married Rev. John Keep, now of Oberlin, and Clarissa[7] married Rev. Mr. Knapp of Westfield, and Harriet[7] married Gen. Miller of Homer. 6. Elisha[6] Lee, a lawyer of Sheffield. 7. Mylo[6] Lee, whose son, Rev. Jonathan[7] Lee of Otis, was the father of Dr. Jonathan Edwards[8] Lee, now assistant surgeon in the insane hospital near Philadelphia.

This is a very incomplete account of the descendants of Rev. Jonathan Lee and Elizabeth Metcalf, and through her the descendants of Gov. Bradford. My own descent in the 7th generation appears, then, to be as follows: 1. Gov. Bradford; 2. Maj. William Bradford; 3. Alice Bradford, married to Rev. William Adams; 4. Abial Adams, married to Rev. Joseph Metcalf; 5. Elizabeth Metcalf, married to Rev. Jonathan Lee; 6. Elizabeth Lee, married to Rev. Thomas Allen; 7. William Allen.

THE GEN. ASSC. of S.W. MICH.

Birthplace of Gov. Wm. Bradford, Austerfield

Throughout his life all his talents were used. Being a haven for many orphans, his home may well be called the first orphans' home in America. His skill in medicine relieved the sufferings of many of the pilgrims and members of their families.

He and the brave band of pilgrims wrote and signed The Compact in the cabin of the Mayflower. This Compact is the first charter of a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. Here was the birth of constitutional liberty, the pattern for our American Constitution and each state Constitution. In this colony of Plymouth were planted the foundations of our American way of life—the ideals of civic and religious liberty that still survive and predominate in this troubled world of ours, though we seem to be beset on all sides with many radical and subversive movements.

Our ancestor ever proved himself worthy of each trust, though some of his duties were heavy and burdensome. His sound and shrewd judgment made him a power in legislative and judicial affairs. His wisdom in dealing with the Indians led to peace between the colony and the neighboring tribes for many years.

He was for the colonists their leader, piloting them through their first winter with its privations, hunger, sickness and suffering. Half their number perished in the struggles of that first terrible winter. On the sarcophagus which contains their remains is this inscription:—

"This monument marks the first burying ground in Plymouth of the Passengers of the Mayflower. Here, under cover of darkness, the first dwindling Company laid their dead, levelling the earth above them lest the Indians should learn how many were the graves."

It is doubtful whether this young small and struggling colony would have survived without the able guidance and faith of its leader.

The Bradfords were yeomen and therefore were not entitled to a coat-of-arms. In the reign of Elizabeth the yeomen were the class next to the gentry. Wishing to have an ensignia we have chosen the coat-of-arms used by Bradfords not too far distant from Austerfield. Much research has been done by interested people at various times to connect these two branches, but so far to no avail.

We descendants have banded together to work for the fulfillment of our objectives and new ones that will present themselves:—

I. To defend the Honor, Integrity and Supremacy of our Government and our Constitution.

II. To foster fraternal relations between all Descendants.

III. To establish a record of the accomplishments of all the Descendants of Governor William Bradford.

"Happy he, who with bright regard, looks back upon his father's father, who with joy recounts the deeds of grace, and in himself values the latest link in the fair chain of noble sequences."

—Goethe.

THE NAME

The name Bradford is derived from the Saxon "Bradenford" or "Broadford" and is doubtless very ancient. A Bradford situated near the Avon, co Wilts owes its name to the broad ford of the river.

One of the first martyrs who perished at the stake in "Bloody" Mary's time was John Bradford, prefect of St. Paul's and a celebrated preacher. It is written that he perished nobly, praying and exhorting the people while he was at the stake. His last words were "Strait is the gaite and narrow is the way."

The early energetic and persevering opposition to intolerance exhibited by Governor William Bradford would seem to mark him as a worthy descendant of the martyr's immediate family. Both Governor William and his illustrious forbear were natives of near-by towns in northern England: Austerfield and Manchester, and it seems quite possible that the families were related.

One circumstance may be advanced in substantiation of this relationship is that a writer who was a contemporary of our ancestor wrote the following commemorative lines at the time of the Governor's death:

"Now blessed, holy Bradford, a successor
Of blessed, holy Bradford, the Confessor
Is gone to place of rest."

ENGLISH ANCESTRY

His son: William[a] married Alice Hanson, the daughter of John and Margaret (Grashen) Hanson. Their parents were the only yeomen of Austerfield who owned property. William died July 15, ~~1591~~ 1591. It is believed Alice remarried Robert Briggs, Sept. 23, 1593. There is no record of her death.

Here was the birth of constitutional liberty, the pattern for our American Constitution and each state Constitution. In this colony of Plymouth were planted the foundations of our American way of life—the ideals of civic and religious liberty that still survive and predominate in this troubled world of ours, though we seem to be beset on all sides with many radical and subversive movements.

Our ancestor ever proved himself worthy of each trust, though some of his duties were heavy and burdensome. His sound and shrewd judgment made him a power in legislative and judicial affairs. His wisdom in dealing with the Indians led to peace between the colony and the neighboring tribes for many years.

He was for the colonists their leader, piloting them through their first winter with its privations, hunger, sickness and suffering. Half their number perished in the struggles of that first terrible winter. On the sarcophagus which contains their remains is this inscription:—

"This monument marks the first burying ground in Plymouth of the Passengers of the Mayflower. Here, under cover of darkness, the first dwindling Company laid their dead, levelling the earth above them lest the Indians should learn how many were the graves."

It is doubtful whether this young small and struggling colony would have survived without the able guidance and faith of its leader.

The Bradfords were yeomen and therefore were not entitled to a coat-of-arms. In the reign of Elizabeth the yeomen were the class next to the gentry. Wishing to have an ensignia we have chosen the coat-of-arms used by Bradfords not too far distant from Austerfield. Much research has been done by interested people at various times to connect these two branches, but so far to no avail.

We descendants have banded together to work for the fulfillment of our objectives and new ones that will present themselves:—

I. To defend the Honor, Integrity and Supremacy of our Government and our Constitution.

II. To foster fraternal relations between all Descendants.

III. To establish a record of the accomplishments of all the Descendants of Governor William Bradford.

"Happy he, who with bright regard, looks back upon his father's father, who with joy recounts the deeds of grace, and in himself values the latest link in the fair chain of noble sequences."

—Goethe.

THE NAME

The name Bradford is derived from the Saxon "Bradenford" or "Broadford" and is doubtless very ancient. A Bradford situated near the Avon, co Wilts owes its name to the broad ford of the river.

One of the first martyrs who perished at the stake in "Bloody" Mary's time was John Bradford, prefect of St. Paul's and a celebrated preacher. It is written that he perished nobly, praying and exhorting the people while he was at the stake. His last words were "Strait is the gaite and narrow is the way."

The early energetic and persevering opposition to intolerance exhibited by Governor William Bradford would seem to mark him as a worthy descendant of the martyr's immediate family. Both Governor William and his illustrious forbear were natives of near-by towns in northern England: Austerfield and Manchester, and it seems quite possible that the families were related.

One circumstance may be advanced in substantiation of this relationship is that a writer who was a contemporary of our ancestor wrote the following commemorative lines at the time of the Governor's death:

"Now blessed, holy Bradford, a successor
Of blessed, holy Bradford, the
Confessor
Is gone to place of rest."

GROUP PICTURE OF THIRD BRADFORD FAMILY COMPACT MEETING

It seems fitting that we, the descendants of Governor William Bradford should band together in a family society, "The Bradford Family Compact" and start work upon various projects in honor of our great ancestor.

Governor William Bradford lived after his father's death with his grandfather, but on the death of his grandfather in 1596 went to live with his father's brother, Robert Bradford, who lived in Scrooby five miles from Austerfield, near the Brewsters, in Yorkshire, England. He joined the church where the Rev. Richard Clifton and the Rev. John Robinson preached, and soon became one of the leading Separatists.

He was of a studious and thoughtful nature, but his early educational advantages were limited. By diligent study he became very proficient in Dutch, French, Latin, Greek and Hebrew. He mastered Hebrew so that he might read the Old Testament in its original tongue.

A most influential power among the Separatists, he migrated to Holland with them. When he came of age he received considerable property from his father's estate, but did not follow his father's commercial undertakings. In Holland he learned the art of "fustian or frieze weaving."

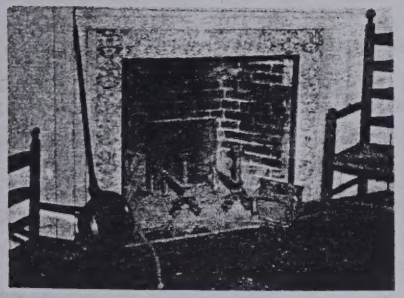
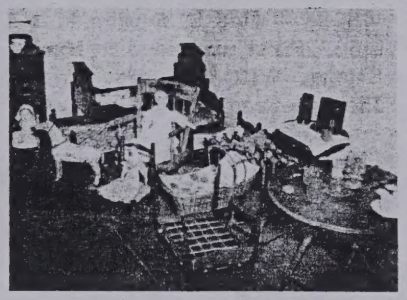
A Dip Into the Past

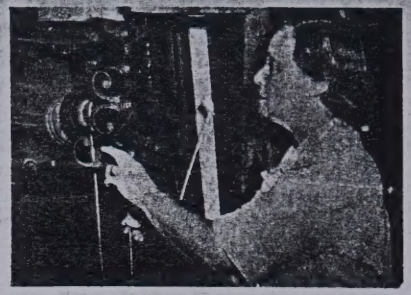


Bible Scenes decorate the original Dutch tile bordering the fireplace in the front bedroom of the house.



No Need to tell you this is the children's room.

In 1717 this flax spinning wheel and the skeined wool winder were put to good use.



Mrs. F. Russell Adams demonstrates the clock jack which turned the fireplace spit in the kitchen.

The Bradford House in Kingston was built in 1674 by Maj. John Bradford, grandson of Gov. William Bradford of the Massachusetts Colony. The compact little house, in a remarkable state of preservation, houses a notable collection of antiques.

WILLIAM STEEVENS OF KILLINGWORTH, CONN.: A NEW MAYFLOWER LINE

By CLAUDE W. BARLOW, Ph.D., F.A.S.G., of Worcester, Mass.

Melatiah[3] Bradford, daughter of William[2] and Alice (Richards) Bradford, and granddaughter of Governor William Bradford of the Mayflower, was born in Plymouth, Mass., 1 November 1664 and married in Hartford, Conn., about 1682, John Steele, son of James and Anna (Bishop) Steele, born in Hartford about 1660, died there, 6 March 1698 (probate in Manwaring, Early Connecticut Probate Records, 1 [1902]: 587, mentions three minor children, Bethia, John, and Ebenezer Steele). By 15 December 1715 Bethia had married Samuel Shepherd of Hartford, who moved the Probate Court for distribution of the estate of John Steele, Jr., deceased. Notice was sent to Melatiah Stevens of Killingworth, widow. Melatiah had married secondly, probably in Killingworth about 1702, Samuel Steevens, son of William and Mary (Meiggs) Steevens, born in Guilford 1 March 1656, died in Killingworth before 7 July 1712, the date of his inventory in New London probate book A:643. Samuel's first wife Elizabeth —— had died 30 May 1701, the mother of five children.

When Melatiah Steevens swore to the inventory on 12 August 1712, she listed the ages of the children thus:

John Stevens	aged	27 years
Saml Stevens	"	25
William		6
Temperance		29
Tamison		22
Mary		16
Elizabeth		9

ch by Melatiah

From the date of death of Samuel Steevens' first wife in 1701 it is evident that the younger children, Elizabeth and William, must have been the children of Melatiah. Unfortunately, the original documents printed in a family account in A Genealogy of the Lineal Descendants of John Steevens, who Settled in Guilford, Conn. in 1645, compiled by Charlotte Steevens Holmes (Elmira, N. Y., 1906), have William's age as 26, not 6. Mrs. Holmes must have thought that from the position of William's name in the list he had to be close to the ages of the others mentioned before and after him. Actually, the court followed the usual custom of naming the sons in order of age, then the daughters in the same order.

Lineages from three of the children of Melatiah (Bradford) (Steele) Steevens have long been accepted for membership in the Society of Mayflower Descendants. These are: Bethia Steele, wife of Samuel Shepherd; Ebenezer Steele, who lived with his mother in Killingworth, then returned to Hartford after his marriage to Susannah Merrill; Elizabeth Steevens, born about 1703, married in Killingworth, 30 August 1724, John Hubbard, whose family is given in full in Donald L. Jacobus' New Haven Genealogical Magazine, 4 (1926): 864-867. It is the purpose of this article to establish William Steevens as another Bradford descendant and to correct other errors in the published reports of his marriage and descendants. For ease in tracing his lineage from Governor Bradford of the Mayflower we are listing William as William[4] Steevens (Melatiah[3] Bradford, William[2], Gov. William[1]).

1. WILLIAM STEEVENS was born in Killingworth and died before 3 September 1751, the date of his inventory in Guilford probate. The Barbour collection of vital records of Connecticut actually has a transcript of book 2, page 160, of Killingworth vital records for William, son of Samuel and Melatiah Steevens, born 2 February 1715/6. Since Samuel had died in 1712, this is undoubtedly an error for 1705/06, which would make William just six years old in 1712.

He married in Killingworth, 26 August 1734 (Vital Records, 2:191), RUHAMAH EARL of Killingworth. It has not been possible to identify Ruhamah or her sister Elizabeth who married Lemuel Hull, but there was a Henry Earl, weaver, who had land grants from Killingworth, and who sold land there in 1742 and 1749. Unfortunately, Mrs. Holmes, thinking that Samuel's son William was born in 1686 and would have been 48 years of age in 1734, has assigned this marriage to another William Steevens, son of John and Abigail (Cole) Steevens, born in Killingworth 24 September 1701 or 1702. Sufficient evidence has been developed by me elsewhere (to be published soon in a new John Steevens Genealogy) to prove that William, son of John, went with two or more brothers to Dutchess County, New York. There is more good evidence on William, son of Samuel. When William, husband of Ruhamah, died, his brother Samuel Steevens administered his estate, and some of the children chose Samuel for their guardian, calling him "uncle." William, son of Samuel, did have an older half-brother Samuel, but there was no Samuel in the family of John Steevens. There is further coincidence in the use of names, in that William and Ruhamah gave a son the uncommon name of Leverett, which was also the name of the first child of William's sister, Elizabeth Hubbard.

The death of Melatiah (Bradford) (Steele) Steevens was not recorded, but she and her son William received land grants from the town of Killingworth on several occasions. The last one recorded to "Maletiah" Steevens was on 7 December 1737 (Land Records, 6:123) and she sold this on 24 April 1739 to "my son-in-law [i.e. step-son] Samuel Steevens" (ibid., 270). This is the latest date on which it is known that she was alive; she would have been in her 75th year.

The six children of William and Ruhamah Steevens were listed when the inventory of his estate was presented, and again when the estate was settled and distribution made 21 November 1753. There is no reference in probate papers or in any later records to the widow Ruhamah. She may have died between 1747 and 1751. The numerous guardianships for the children are mentioned with each member of the family. It appears that the three older boys, William, Christopher, and John, were brought up by their uncle Samuel Steevens, the next son Leverett by his aunt Elizabeth Hubbard in New Haven, the girl Ruhamah and the youngest boy Moses by their uncle Lemuel Hull of Killingworth.

Children of William and Ruhamah (Earl) Steevens, recorded in Killingworth Vital Records, 2:160:

i. RUHAMAH[5], b. 20 Apr. 1735, also called Amy in the probate records. She chose Lemuel Hull her guardian 26 Mar. 1752, and when she gave him a receipt on 15 Jan. 1754 she called him "uncle." Lemuel had married Elizabeth Earl, sister of Ruhamah the mother, 24 Dec. 1729.
2. ii. WILLIAM, b. 1 Sept. 1736.
3. iii. CHRISTOPHER, b. 13 Sept. 1738.
iv. JOHN, b. 4 Aug. 1740; had Samuel Steevens for guardian 31 Mar. 1752. In 1770 he was a resident of the Island of Guadeloupe in the West Indies (see deeds abstracted below).
4. v. LEVERETT, b. 19 Sept. 1742.
vi. MOSES, b. 30 Aug. 1747; had Lemuel Hull for guardian 31 Mar. 1752. He was "deceased" before 9 Mar. 1762 when his brother William sold a share inherited from Moses (see deed below).

2. WILLIAM[5] STEEVENS (William[4], Melatiah[3] Bradford, William[2], Gov. William[1]), born 1 September 1736, died in Hartford before 4 March 1763, the date of the administration of his estate (Hartford probate #5219).

He married 9 July 1761, ELISABETH SEDGWICK, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Brace) Sedgwick, baptized in West Hartford 5 July 1741, died 24 November 1802. She married secondly, 23 January 1766, James Taylor of Hartford who died in 1772. She married thirdly, Ebenezer Kneeland, with whom she is buried in the Center Cemetery, Hartford.

William chose Samuel Steevens his guardian 3 February 1752. When he gave a receipt 19 May 1760 he was called "William Stephens of Hartford." Killingworth Land Records, 9:248, also contains a conveyance dated 9 March 1762, from William Steevens of Hartford to Theophilus Morgan of "a certain lott in Killingworth set off to William from his father, being one-fifth of the lot," and also the part that belonged to William's brother Moses, deceased.

William Steevens had enlisted in the army from Hartford for service in the Colonial Wars in 1756, and may have remained in service until he died in 1763. He served under a "Capt. DiLoys." A Mrs. Stevens received expenses for caring for her ill husband in 1761. His estate was administered jointly with that of Joseph Blancher and both of the deceased had military wages due to them. The administrator was John Steel with Elisha Steel as surety (Hartford probate #5219). John and Elisha were sons of Ebenezer Steel, and cousins of William Steevens.

William Steevens was offered communion in the West Hartford Church 18 April 1762.

Child of William and Elisabeth (Sedgwick) Steevens:

i. ELISABETH, bapt. 13 June 1762 (West Hartford Church Records). There is no further record of her.

3. CHRISTOPHER[5] STEEVENS (William[4], Melatiah[3] Bradford, William[2], Gov. William[1]), born 13 September 1738, died in Killingworth 4 September 1787 (Church Records).

He married in Killingworth, 27 September 1764, his third cousin once removed, NAOMI STEEVENS, daughter of Amos and Mary (Stannard) Steevens, born in Killingworth 23 April 1737. Their children were recorded in Killingworth vital records with the mother's name spelled Neomey. Each of the children was baptized in Killingworth Church on the Sunday following birth.

Christopher Steevens, a minor under 14, had Samuel Steevens for guardian 31 March 1752, and on 2 December 1754, aged over 14, again chose Samuel as guardian. In Killingworth Land Records, 9:442, he sold to Samuel Hezelton of Derby, Conn., for £20 New York money "a full quarter of my right in land and buildings of my Honoured father William Steevens, late of Killingworth deceased, plus rights that may accrue by the deaths of other heirs," dated 30 May 1761 and acknowledged the same day in Dutchess County, New York.

He was offered communion in the Killingworth Church 6 May 1764 and was a faithful member until his death. There is no probate of his estate.

Children of Christopher and Naomi (Steevens) Steevens:

i. WILLIAM, b. 22 Feb. 1767.
ii. RUHAMAH, b. 25 Oct. 1768; mar. 7 Jan. 1790 DIDYMUS JOHNSON of Haddam, Conn. (Church Records, 2:70).
iii. EUNICE, b. 24 Aug. 1770.
iv. LUCINDA, b. 31 Aug. 1772; d. "10 weeks after."
v. MOSES, b. 12 May 1774.
vi. LUCINDA, b. 16 Mar. 1777.

4. LEVERETT[5] STEEVENS (William[4], Melatiah[3] Bradford, Williams[2], Gov. William[1]), born 19 September 1742, became a sea captain. He was reported "last seen on the coast of Florida" 24 October 1799.

He married in New Haven 24 October 1771, ESTHER MACUMBER, daughter of Jeremiah and Sarah (Cooper) Macumber, baptized in New Haven 2 September 1750, died there 14 August 1829, aged 79.

Leverett probably went to New Haven to live with his aunt Elizabeth Hubbard, as no guardianship is found for him in Guilford probate. The clue to his residence is found in deeds recorded in Killingworth Land Records, 11:377:

> John Steevens of Guadeloupe [the name is very difficult to read, but becomes certain after two repetitions in the following instrument] . . . constitute my well beloved brother Leverett Steevens of Newhaven, mariner, my lawful attorney to sell all my real estate in the Colony of Connecticut.

The above deed was dated 8 February 1770 and witnessed by Abiathar Camp and Moses Sawyer. Four months later, 2 June 1770, Leverett Steevens by a deed witnessed by Nathan Hill and John Morgain leased land which he held in common with his brother:

> Leverett Steevens of Newhaven, agent and attorney for John Steevens of the Island of Guardeloup in the West Indies lease to Theophilus Morgan Esq. of Killingworth for £8 in full what was set to me and John of Guadiloupe of our father William deceased and also our brother Moses Steevens late of Killingworth deceased.

Children of Leverett and Esther (Macumber) Steevens, some recorded in New Haven, all baptized in the First Church (from Donald L. Jacobus, New Haven Genealogical Magazine, 7 [1931]: 1704):

i. LEVERETT, b. 4 July 1773; mar. 7 Sept. 1796, NANCY THOMAS.
ii. EARL, b. 3 Oct. 1775; d. 17 May 1838; mar. (1) Wallingford 1795, RHODA FORD, b. about 1778, d. 20 Feb. 1811, aged 33; (2) MARIA ———. Five children by first wife, b. New Haven.
iii. DANIEL, bapt. 8 Feb. 1778; d. 4 July 1796.
iv. SARAH, bapt. 12 Nov. 1780; mar. 31 May 1804, WILLIAM BUTLER.
v. JOHN, b. 16 Feb. 1783.
vi. ESTHER, bapt. 28 May 1786; mar. 22 May 1804, HENRY OSBORNE.
vii. HANNAH, bapt. 1 March 1789.
viii. ISAAC, b. 17 Aug. 1793.

All descendants of William Steevens of Killingworth by his wife Ruhamah Earl thus have a proved line of descent from Gov. William Bradford of the Mayflower.

JOHN STEPHENS OF GUILFORD (CONN.) AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by Hon. R. D. SMYTH and communicated by Dr. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. JOHN[1] STEPHENS, or Stevens, was one of the early settlers of Guilford, but not a signer of the original plantation covenant. He shared in the first division of homelots and lands. His homelot of 1½ acres was on the East side of Fair Street. In addition, he owned a parcel of upland containing 36¼ acres, beside the Alderswamp, near the present Alderbrook Cemetery. "Goodman Stevens" was fined for neglect of fencing, on Oct. 9, 1645. He was a "planter" in 1650, but before 1656 seems to have united with the church, as he is recorded as a freeman in the latter year. He died Sept. 1, 1670, leaving a will made on Aug. 27 of that year. To his son Thomas he gave "the mare I usually ride on and my biggest brass kettle," "my best sute and my cloake and my bed and one payre of sheets and all my other bedding," and made him executor. To his son William he gave "all my houseing and my homelot and my meadow at the East River here in Guilford, he paying out of it £20, £10 to my sonne John Stephens in old England to be paid here in currant pay in New England £10 to my daughter Mary Collins."

His closing years were passed in Farmington, and where also he was a member of their church. His residence in Hartford was on the main street, just north of the present Atheneum. His will bears date, January 30, 1663-4. He died November 25, 1665.

OF GEORGE STEELE,

Who was also one of the pioneers in the Connecticut colony, we can furnish only a few particulars:

His name appears but a few times on the public records. All the circumstances respecting him compared, seem plainly to indicate that he was an elder brother of John Steele, Esq., whose memorial has just been given. With him he appears to have come to New England; with him was proprietor of lands in New Town (afterwards Cambridge), in 1632; was admitted freeman at the general court of Massachusetts, in May, 1634; was one of the company in the settlement of Hartford, Conn., in 1635 or 6; was one of the proprietors of undivided lands therein in 1639; was a juryman in 1643, and also a plaintiff in three cases, before the general court, in 1644 and 1647. Other and minor notices we omit. His residence in Hartford, was on the lane, now Washington street, south-east of Trinity College. He died in 1663, "very old."

Of his wife we find no record. He had 4 children, and his descendants have been very numerous; many of them having filleprominent stations in military life during the French war, and during the American revolution. Not a few have held respond sible positions in civil life, and in the Christian ministry.*

* Some 30 at least of the name have been educated in the New England College, 10 of whom are known to have been graduated at Yale; besides others in other parts of the country.

Dear Fran,

I am sorry I sent you the wrong Family Group sheet. There are two Bradford Steeles, father and son. The one I sent you was the son, brother of the enclosed Ashbel Steele, who obviously had a son named after his brother.

As you can see, I do not have much information about this Ashbel Steele, however, he was married to a Eunice and might be the father of the one you are looking for. The references listed should give you a start. All of these books I found on interlibrary loan at the family history center.

I have just gotten a new computer and have yet to transfer all my files and learn all the ins and outs of the new one.

Hope you found the information you wanted when you went to Illinois.

Best regards,

Martha

Dear Fran,

I cannot remember what exactly that I have sent you previously, so I am sending you the enclosed.

As you will see, I have Richard Steele as the Father of George. Documentation shown on George's Family Group Sheet.

Also, I have highlighted the decedents as they come down to the two Ashbels. You will notice that Ashbel #501 is the one who died at age one. You have him as being married.

I also have marked the continuation of my line down to my Grandmother, Martha Anna Mapes (I was named for her).

Hope this will help straighten things out for you and that you can connect to either Bradford Steele or Bradford Steele Jr. as these are all proven.

Regards,

Martha

This copy of WILLIAM BRADFORD "Mayflower Families in Progress" (MFIP) is not a finished product. It is a printed copy of the current status of four generations of BRADFORD research for the Five Generations Project of the General Society of Mayflower descendants. Research on these four generations, plus the fifth generation, is continuing at this time. The main purposes of this booklet are: 1) to preserve the research, 2) to ask readers for assistance in providing the missing data, 3) to assist other Project workers, 4) to aid State Historians, and 5) to provide guides for further research. Most of these families carry full primary source documentation, some do not.

All places are assumed to be Massachusetts unless otherwise indicated.

We welcome any additions and/or corrections to this booklet which are supported by primary source documentation. Any such changes should be mailed to:

NOTE: BRADFORD DESC p. 1, TAG 46:117 and NEHGR 50:462-5 all say Dorothy May is dau. of John May. It seems more likely she is dau. of Henry May. See PLYMOUTH COLONY ITS HISTORY AND PEOPLE 1620-1691, Eugene A. Stratton, Salt Lake City, 1986, pp. 324-6, for a discussion of this problem.

2 JOHN^{2} BRADFORD (William^{1}) b. Leyden, Holland ca. 1618; d. Norwich CT bef. 21 Sept. 1676.

He m. 1650 or earlier MARTHA BOURNE, b. prob. England ca. 1614; d. Norwich CT bet. 20 Feb. 1679/80 and 1683 (his 3rd m.); dau. of Thomas and Elizabeth (-----) Bourne. She m. (2) Norwich CT ca. 1679 Thomas Tracy. The will of Thomas Bourne of Marshfield dated 2 May 1664 names daughter Bradford.

A 1650 Marshfield town record states John Phillips put his son Wm. Phillips unto John Bradford of the town of Duxborough and his now wife.

All that remains of John Bradford's estate proceedings is the statement that his will was exhibited in court, accepted, and ordered to be recorded on 21 Sept. 1676. On 20 Feb. 1679/80 Martha Tracy executrix of the will of John Bradford, her late husband, sold 50 acres to Caleb Fobes. Martha's will is another will that has been lost.

The will of Wealthian Richards, widow of Boston, drawn 3 July 1679, names Thomas, Alice, Hannah, Mercy, William Jr., John, Samuel, Melatiah, Mary and Sarah Bradford "children of William Bradford of Plimoth Colony & my daughter Al(ce) deceased."

He m. (2) ----- -----, name unknown but she is said to be a Widow Wiswall, maiden name Fitch, for which there is no primary evidence. She d. bef. 1677.

He m. (3) Plymouth ca. 1676 MARY (WOOD) HOLMES, b. Plymouth ca. 1643; d. there 6 Jan. 1714/5; dau. of John and Mary (Masterson) Wood (or Atwood). She m. (1) Plymouth 11 Dec. 1661 John Holmes by whom she had Joseph, Mary & Isaac. The March 1675/6 division of the estate of John Wood Jr. (Mary's brother) names "Mistris Mary Holmes," therefore the marriage was after that date. The will of John Holmes of Duxbury dated 16 Dec. 1675 names wife Mary Holmes and children Joseph, Mary and Isaac.

On 23 April 1650 William Bradford deeded land to his son William upon his agreement to marry Allice, dau. of Mr. Thomas Richards of Waymouth.

Peter Hobart of Hingham dated 16 Jan. 1678, mentions his daughter Jael Bradford, wife of Joseph Bradford of Plymouth.

The will of Joseph Bradford of Plymouth, planter, dated 8 Oct. 1712, with inventory taken 27 July 1715, names his wife Jael and son Elisha. The will was refused probate following testimony that it was not written according to the wishes of the decedent.

NOTE: BRADFORD DESC gives Bethiah 9 children. This is apparently in error as Jacobus (HALE-HOUSE p. 259) says Eunice was probably the mother of seven of them. Apparently there is a document showing she was married to Samuel Sheperd in 1731 and Jacobus says prob. by 1721. The question is which was the mother of Bethia?

Humphreysville Conn.
February 25th 1818

To all whom it may Concern,

This is to certify that Deacon Bradford Steele is a member of the Congregational Church in Humphreysville, in good & regular Standing & a man of uprightness & integrity. Deacon Steele so far as his health & the infirmities of age will admit, is an active officer in the church of which he is a member. As it respects the services which he performed for the good of his country during the revolutionary war, & the painful sufferings which he was then called to endure, this is the most abundant proof. Deacon Steele, is among the number of those, that have been called to endure much of the afflictions of this life. The death of a beloved Son, not many years since left on his hands an orphan Grandchild for whose support, Deacon Steele has had to provide, & is still called to provide. The long & distressing sickness of his youngest Son's family, has rendered it indispensably necessary for him to afford them continual assistance to a greater or less extent, & this same necessity still exists. To afford therefore to Deacon Steele, that assistance which Congress has pledged itself to do, by its own Law, for those who performed Military services, during the revolutionary war, will be an act, not only of kindness, but of christian charity. That he may soon receive some aid from his country, for services long ago performed, I most sincerely desire, for his own comfort, in his advanced years, & that also, of his dependent family.

Charles Thompson
Pastor of the Congregational Church, in Humphreysville, New Haven County Conn.

The Memorial of Broadford Steele of the Town of Derby, in the County of New Haven State of Connecticut humbly Sheweth That your Memorialist performed the following services in the war of the revolution, viz.

That your Memorialist was detached for a tour of two months under Capt Nathan Peirson early in the Spring of the year 1777 to guard Government stores at Woodbury in said State by order of the Governor of Connecticut, at which he served one month & was relieved or procuring another man in his room

That in July 1777 he for part of the month, your Memorialist enlisted under Lieutenant Jabez Pritchard who was commissioned by the Governor of Connecticut into the service of said State for the term of six months & joined the Company at Horseneck the latter part of the same month, which Company was commanded by Capt Converse, said Pritchard & one Moore were Lieutenants Howe Rose was Ensign in the Company, which composed part of a Regiment under the Command of Col Enos

Your Memorialist cannot recollect the Christian names of the Officers. Most of the Regiment was stationed at Horseneck & part at Stamford in a week or two an order was received for our Regiment to march to the Highlands at Peekskill, which at the time was always done by said Pritchard & myself & a few others said Regiment having been raised under the assurance that they should not be marched out of the State but finally the whole Regiment arrived at Peekskill & there about two months Continued & then marched to West Chester (where Gregory Rose was then marched to West Chester & that being detained three days I was exchanged & released & then I made my way home to Derby where I arrived about the last of August & I equipped myself for the service when I went into it the cost of which was then estimated at forty dollars. I was sixteen years old on the last day of the month on which I was taken prisoner & am now in my seventy eth year.

Your Memorialist persuades himself that, if the privations & hardships of a soldier of the Revolution entitles him to the grateful remembrance of his Country he may lay some claim to it. His circumstances in life enable him to live for the present & support a family consisting of a wife & Child & grand child all dependent on him for support. But tho barely comfortable now, your Memorialist feels that under the infirmities of increasing years he may not be so long & he cannot but value his claim to remuneration equal to many around him who share the bounty of the Government.

He therefore prays your Honorable body to take his case into your consideration and grant him to be enrolled on the List of Revolutionary Pensioners & to receive a annual allowance equal in amount to that received by Revolutionary Pensioners of this State rank and as in duty bound will ever pray. Dated at Derby this 12th day of November A.D. 1831

Bradford Steele
W. 17869

Dear Madam:

The data which follow were obtained from the papers on file in pension claim, W. 17869, based upon service of Bradford Steele in the Revolutionary War.

Bradford Steele lived with his father in Derby, New Haven County, Connecticut, at the time he entered service in the Revolutionary War. The names of his father was not designated, nor that of his mother shown.

Bradford Steele enlisted in the spring of 1777 and served two months as private in Captain Nathan Pierson's Connecticut company, during which he was stationed at Woodbury, Connecticut, guarding government stores. He enlisted early in July 1777, under Lieutenant Jabez Pritchard, also of Derby, Connecticut, served as private in Captain Benjamin Converse's company, marched to Peekskill and while on a scouting party near Mount Independence, was taken prisoner, was confined in the Old Sugar House of New York City, later, was placed on a prison ship, was ill with smallpox, was removed to a hospital, remained ill and in confinement until August 10, 1778, at which time he was sent to Elizabeth Town Point, where he was exchanged. He reached home about the end of August; his father met him at Stamford, Connecticut, and hardly recognized him because of his sufferings, being a "mere skeleton". He enlisted May 1, 1779, and served more than a month as private in Captain Rogers' company, Colonel Wells' Connecticut company; he enlisted May 1, 1780 and served two months as sergeant in Captain John Riggs' Connecticut company.

The soldier continued to reside in Derby, Connecticut, after his service in the Revolutionary War.

He was allowed pension on his application executed November 12, 1831, at which time he resided in Derby, Connecticut. Bradford Steele was then in his seventieth year. He stated "I was sixteen years old on the last day of the month on which I was taken prisoner" In 1833, Bradford Steele was Deacon of the Congregational Church of Humphreysville (later Seymour), Connecticut. He died December 21, 1841, in Derby, Connecticut. He signed his name Bradford Steele.

This soldier married March 9, 1785, Ruth Wheeler; a copy of their marriage, made by Rev. David Bronson of the Congregational Church, shews the following- Bradford Steel, Jr. and Ruth Wheeler- March 9, 1785. The names of Ruth's parents were not given.

Ruth Steele, this soldier's widow, was allowed pension on her application executed March 6, 1846, at which time she was aged eighty years. She resided then in Derby, Connecticut. She was allowed one hundred sixty acres of bounty land on warrant #7085, under the Act of March 3, 1855, on account of her husband's service in the Revolutionary War. On March 1855, she resided in Seymour, Connecticut. She died February 20, 1856.

Bradford Steele and his wife, Ruth, had children. In February 1833, it was stated that "the death of a beloved son, not many years since, left on his hands an orphan grandchild" for support; reference was made then also to the "sickness of his youngest son's family". No names of these children were designated.

In 1846, when Ruthe Steele made application for pension, one Albert J. Steele was present. In 1855, when she made application for bounty land, this same Albert J. Steele was present and was a resident of Seymour, Connecticut; his relationship to her was not stated.

In 1846, this soldier's nephew, Ashbel Steele, made inquiry in regard to Ruth Steele's pension.

If you desire information in regard to the location of the land which was granted on account of service of Bradford Steele in the Revolutionary War, you should apply to The Commissioner, General Land Office, this city, and furnish the following data: warrant #7085, 160 acres, Act of March 3, 1855.

Very truly yours,

A. D. MILLER,
Executive Assistant to the Administrator.

ENLARGED EDITION.

EXPLANATION.

The first column of figures denotes the number of each individual, and is continuous throughout the book. The second column shows the number in each separate family, the eldest being numbered one. This is designed to be regular, although some families are not arranged correctly. Figures immediately after the first name in each paragraph, in parenthesis, thus (50), refer back to the individual of the family in which he or she is first named. Figures which are found after the name of a member of a family, in parenthesis, indicate to refer forward to that number, when that family is traced out. Example—on page 9 you will find next to No. 30,

"Children of SAMUEL[2] (8) and Mary (Bocsey) Steel."

By referring back to No. 8, you will find the date of his birth, when married, and other information relating to him and his family. The small figure 2 after his name, shows that he is of the second generation, and his children, which commence with 31, have the figure 3, showing that they are the third generation. The eldest of this family is James, No. 31, and the numeral 1 adjoining, indicates that he is so. After his name occur the figures (64), and by turning forward to that number, the names of his children will be found, with all the information concerning them. The plan adopted in this work is the one recommended by the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, and is presumed to be the best system in use.

Mrs. Frances F. Wooley
886 Lacosta Lane

Dear Mrs. Wooley:

Thank you for your letter regarding the Ancestral File entry on the Steele family that came from Illinois to Topeka, Kansas. Charles Cone Whiting (brother of my 2nd great-grandmother, Julia Buswell Whiting Ross) married Catherine Mary Steele, so I am related only through marriage.

Topeka Cemetery records indicate that Catherine Mary (Steele) Whiting was born August 7, 1844, in Grandview, Edgar County, Illinois, and died December 8, 1893, of pneumonia in Topeka, Shawnee County, Kansas. Rev. John A. Steele died in October, 1864, and is also buried in Topeka Cemetery.

Enclosed are the two articles on the Steele family that appear in Topeka Pen and Camera Sketches, by Mary E. Jackson (Geo. W. Crane & Co., Topeka, Kansas, 1890, pp. 143-43) from which I obtained my information. Rev. John A. Steele was born in West Virginia in 1801, married Catherine Mary Hampton in Staunton, Virginia, in 1835, and lived in Illinois from 1837 to 1860. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton, too, so he got around.

Looking over your information, it appears your Steeles came from Connecticut to New York and then went on to Cook County, Illinois, so it does not look like the Edgar County, Illinois, Steeles are going to give you much help in your search.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Mary Toluchanian

(The Judd Line).

The surname Judd is one of the oldest English surnames, and is identical with Jude, an old and now almost obsolete personal name. Judson and Judkins are formed from the same name. Henry Judde, of county Kent, and John Judde, of Oxfordshire, were mentioned in the Hundred Rolls of 1275, and the family has been in Kent down to the present time. Sir Andrew Judd, a dealer in skins and furs, of London, son of John Judd, of Tunbridge, Kent, was mayor of London in 1550, a man of wealth and influence. He endowed a grammar school in Tunbridge. His only child was a daughter Alice. The coat-of-arms of this family is: Gules, a fesse raguled between three boars' heads couped argent. It is likely that all the Judds are descended from this Kent family. The only other coat-of-arms of the Judd family is plainly of the same origin, and indicates relationship. The Judds of Middlesex bear: Gules, a fesse raguled between three boars' heads erased argent. Crest: on a ducal coronet or, a cockatrice, wings displayed proper. The family was also prominent in county Essex, England.

He removed to Hartford, Connecticut, in 1636, and had two acres for a home lot, near the "Charter Oak." He was one of the first proprietors and settlers of Farmington, Connecticut, and removed there from Hartford about 1644. His home lot was on the main street, and he was a substantial farmer and an influential man. He was deputy to the general court several times. He was a charter member of the Farmington church, and was its second deacon. He died November 12, 1688, aged about eighty. His first wife died in Farmington, and he married (second) December 2, 1679, Clemence Mason, widow of Thomas Mason, of Northampton, and resided in Northampton the remainder of his life. He then became resident physician at the State Hospital in New Haven, continuing for one year, and then entered actively upon the practice of medicine at Terryville, Connecticut, where he achieved a considerable success. While in college he had become a thorough botanist. Too strict application to his professional duties impaired his health, and in April, 1872, he was compelled to relinquish them, and he returned south to his old home, hoping to regain his health. He experienced a temporary relief, but soon after his return detected the alarming fact that he was himself a victim of the disease to which he had devoted so much study and attention. Elected, during twenty-three years, to the principal colony court, he was present at, at least eighty-eight of its sittings and engaged in its legislation and judicial decisions, and for four years he served as its secretary or recorder. For nearly twenty years he was also recorder of the town of Hartford, and for a time also recorder of the town of Farmington, where he passed the last years of his life. John R. Steele, a prominent builder and contractor, of Rochelle, was born in the city of Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1824, and accompanied his parents to America in 1826. These latter were Peter and Johanna (Downs) Steele. The father purchased land at Rochester, Monroe Co., N. Y., where the parents lived up to the date of their death. They had a family of five children, three of whom lived to man and womanhood.

Mr. John R. Steele remained at home until he was 17 years old, when he resolved to learn carpentering, which he began at Rochester, N. Y., where he also learned the business of building and contracting and remained until 1857. He then came to Illinois and settled at Paine's Point, Pine Rock Township, where he followed his trade and succeeded in securing the means to purchase 60 acres. He resided upon this and carried on his trade for 12 years, but finally selling out, moved to Rochelle. In this city he has successfully followed contracting and building since the date named. He has managed the erection of the best buildings in the city and has built for himself a most desirable residence on Washington Street.

Mr. Steele married Miss Adeline E. Grant, a very amiable lady, Oct. 10, 1848. She was a native of Hartford, Conn., and the daughter of John and Betsie (Vining) Grant, who were themselves both natives of that State, but moved to Rochester, N. Y., at a later date. The father of our subject's wife was also in the building and contracting business. He had a family of five sons and one daughter, all of whom lived to be successfully settled in life. Mr. and Mrs. Steele have a charming family of seven children, viz.: Emma L., Frank, Addie M., Walter H., Maude I., Minnie G. and Claude L. Frank married Emily Plummer, and of their union four children were born—Melville, Mabel, Edwin and Charles; these all live in Kansas. Emma married James A. Brundage, and two children were the result—Bruce and Herbert S.; this latter family reside at Rochelle.

Mr. Steele is a Mason and in excellent standing in his lodge. In politics, he represents the Republican party, both by his firm adherence whenever called upon to utter his sentiments, and practically when his active aid is desired. He is a thoroughly representative man and substantial citizen.

Francis A. Smith is one of the leading farmers of the township of Byron, and is considered one of the most prominent representatives of the pioneer settlers of Ogle County. He is extensively interested in the avenues of general farming, and also in the raising of stock.

He came to the county in 1837, and at once located land in the township which is now known as Byron. It was situated on sections 4, 5, 8 and 9. On the tract there had been erected a log-cabin of primitive style, and of the whole acreage only 10 acres had been broken. As soon as the land sales came

He was, in early life, a machinist and pattern maker; and resided in Marlboro, East Haddam, Glastonbury, Conn.; Ware, Hardwick, and Springfield, Mass. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, 22 May 1831; and soon after, he became a lay preacher and for years was recognized by the honorary title of "Reverend." When however, later in life, he became a Second Adventist, he dropped the title, and was ever after called "Elder." He observed the seventh day as the Sabbath.

He was possessed of great individuality of character. His convictions were strong and were founded on his own interpretation of the Bible truth, after patient and careful study. To him, life was an occasion for earnest Christian effort; and he steadily endeavored to improve his time and opportunities to the best advantage. He strictly observed the Sabbath with almost the rigid exactness of the Mosaic law; and he required of his children a similar reverential regard. In all the duties of daily life, he strove to apply correct religious principles, and to exert an influence in favor of sound morality and practical Christianity. He was a good man, an earnest Christian, and a faithful, zealous laborer for the salvation of his fellow men.

the army and mark out the roads and crossing places; and on the arrival of the army at the St. Lawrence he was appointed superintendent of the crossing of the river. At the head of his company Steele marched with the army to the attack upon Quebec, but upon the fall of Gen. Montgomery the Americans retreated, and Arnold's division were all taken prisoners. He was badly wounded in the left hand, two of his fingers having been carried away by a musket shot. The following may be cited as showing the heroic daring of Capt. Archibald Steele: On one occasion as the Americans were crossing a river in bark canoes, these were filled to their utmost capacity with men, and Capt. Steele seeing no room in the canoe leaped into the river, rested his hands on the stern of the boat whilst one of the men therein sat upon them, and thus was he dragged through the floating ice to the opposite shore. When they reached the shore, life was almost extinct; the soldiers wrapped him in their blankets, and rolled him over the ground to infuse new life in him. On his return home from the Quebec expedition he met the American army in New Jersey, and was informed by Gen. Hand that two of his brothers, John Steele and Wm. Steele, were then serving with the army. Capt. Archibald Steele asked Gen. Hand if he thought his brother John would be competent to assume the command of a company (being but eighteen years of age.) Hand replied that he would warrant his qualification, and the commission was procured. Archibald Steele was afterwards appointed deputy quartermaster general, a position he retained for some considerable time. He was appointed by Washington colonel of a western expedition, but sickness prevented the acceptance of this command. He held for some time in Philadelphia his position of military storekeeper. He died in Philadelphia in 1832, aged 91 years. He had three sons in the naval service during the war of 1812 (George, William and Matthias), who were captured, taken to England, and there for a time detained as prisoners of war.

STEELE, General James, son of William and Abigail Steele, was born in Sadsbury township about the commencement of the Revolutionary war. During the war of 1812 he was, for meritorious conduct, promoted to the rank of brigadier general. Prior to the war he had erected a paper mill on the east side of the Octoraro. His residence was on the Chester county side of the creek, while his store, with part of his family and most of his improvements, were on the Lancaster county side. He erected two cotton mills in Sadsbury township, about the year 1818. He was an enterprising business man. He was a Presbyterian, yet his wife and some of his family inclined to the Methodist faith. He died about 1840, at an advanced age. His son, Francis B. Steele, was appointed military storekeeper at the Falls of St. Anthony, in Minnesota, under the administration of President Jackson, in which State several of the family now reside.

STEELE, General John, was born in Drumore township, Lancaster county, in the year 1758. His parents had emigrated from Scotland, and settled in that part of the county at an early day. His parents had designed him for the ministry, and with this end in view had placed him under the instruction of the Rev. Mr. James, a Presbyterian clergyman, and upon the breaking out of the Revolution he was reading divinity with the Rev. Mr. Latta. He immediately joined the American army as a private, being then but eighteen years of age, and at the age of nineteen, having shown his valor, he was given the command of a company. He continued in the service of his country during the whole of the Revolution. He received a severe wound in the abdomen at the battle of Brandywine, from the effects of which he came near losing his life. Upon the conclusion of the war of the Revolution he returned to civil life, having the fixed habits of military life and little qualified for business; and yet though one of his arms was disabled from a wound received in the service, he refused a pension when in his reach, and battled for the means of subsistence as best he could. In 1801 he was elected a member of the Legislature, the duties of which he discharged during one session. The following year he was nominated and elected by the Republican (Democratic) party State Senator of Pennsylvania. By virtue of the act of 15th of February, assume the charge on the terms we propose. Take, for instance, the Congregational Library Association; their object is identical with that of our supposed society. We venture to say that for a very moderate rent they will devote a room in their almost fire-proof building to the Prince Library, and keep it open for the inspection of all. When such a course is adopted, contributions will flow in, and restore the department of New England theology, at least, to its pristine glory. With such a nucleus, a collection without a rival can easily be formed.

Our country clergymen have often opportunities to collect a few rare volumes, without cost, which, we venture to say, they will be glad to add to such a laudable attempt to honor Puritan divines. No rival need be feared: the Public Library has too many other branches of literature to attend to; our historical societies, also, embrace too extensive a field to perfect this. Let us see, then, the Prince Library once placed in a proper position, and we cannot doubt the success of the enterprise, nor measure the amount of prospective good which will attend its successful establishment.

A Genealogical Register of the Descendants, in the Male line, of David Atwater, one of the original Planters of New Haven, Conn., to the Fifth Generation. New Haven: 1851. pp. 26 and 4.

We have passed the time when we felt bound to apologize for omissions in our record of family histories published; and we can only say, now, that our readers will find the contents of this work as valuable, as though we had apprised them of its appearance at the proper time. It is a clear and concise account of the descendants of David Atwater, who, as his brother Joshua's family is believed to be extinct, may be regarded as the progenitor of all who bear the name in America. We presume the pamphlet was compiled by the Rev. Edward E. Atwater of New Haven.

Steele Family: a Genealogical History of John and George Steele (settlers of Hartford, Conn.), 1635–6, and their Descendants. With an Appendix, containing Genealogical Information respecting other Families of the name who settled in different parts of the United States. By Daniel Steele Durrie, Librarian of Wisconsin State Historical Society. Albany: Munsell and Rowland. 1859. pp. 145.

As to the mechanical execution of this book, it is enough to say that it is printed by Munsell, for no one surpasses him in his department; as to the contents, we will proceed to a brief exposition. The work has occupied Mr. Durrie, and his friend, the late Dr. A. J. Skilton, about ten years, and their investigations have borne fruit, in this volume, which will take rank with the best yet published.

The Steeles are by no means of one stock; John and George are believed to have been brothers, as they came together to this country, settled in Cambridge, and removed to Hartford together. Their families are numbered and traced side by side. But there are also descendants of Thomas Steele of Boston, of Thomas Steele of Londonderry, Steeles of New York, Virginia, and many other places, connected only by the name, but yet all have been carefully and industriously traced out. We do not recollect any other genealogy which possesses such an array of unallied families, and we trust that the example set will be widely followed. We have not much to say farther in commendation of the work; we have so recently expressed our opinion of the requirements to be fulfilled before a genealogy can be ranked as good, that the highest praise we can give—and we are happy to give it in the present case—is, that the book is fully equal to those which have preceded it.

Annual Obituary Notices of Eminent Persons who have died in the United States, for 1857. By Hon. Nathan Crosby. Boston: Phillips, Sampson and Company. 1858. 8vo. pp. 432. With two portraits.

This is the first volume of a proposed annual series. If we mistake not in our figures, it contains obituary notices of 3269 individuals, of both sexes. Some of these notices are brief, giving simply the name, age, place and time of decease of the persons mentioned; in others, we are presented with details of life and character. These patient gleanings are chiefly from the newspapers of the day, with occasional abstracts from eulogies, sermons, and other publications. It is well to have them thus permanently preserved, for in such a form they furnish valuable material for reference. The compiler in truth remarks, that "the name, the life, the influence of every man makes a part of the history of the times." There are many in this collection, however, who were without doubt worthy and respectable people, to whom we should hardly concede the term "eminent persons." Some fifty pages at the close of the work are devoted to sketches of individuals who died previous to 1857.

We would here make a suggestion, applicable in its nature to the Register as to the work before us. It is well known that statements gathered from newspapers and miscellaneous publications are not so reliable as direct communications from well informed correspondents. We therefore solicit, for our obituary columns, the aid of patrons disposed to co-operate with us, in furnishing brief notices of their deceased acquaintances and friends, that we may be enabled more fully to perfect this department of our work.

A Journal of the Expedition to Quebec, in the year 1775, under the command of Col. Benedict Arnold. By James Melvin, a private in Capt. Dearborn's company. New York: 1857. pp. 30.

Diary of Washington: from the first day of October, 1789, to the tenth day of March, 1790. From the original manuscript, now first printed. New York: 1858. pp. 89.

These two volumes are printed for a club of seven gentlemen of New York, whose intention is to continue the series. They have been fortunate in their selection of the initiatory volumes, and have preserved documents well worthy of the preference.

The books are issued in a beautiful form; and, as the small number of the impressions will always make them sought for and prized by the lover of choice works, we must congratulate those who are so fortunate as to be on the list of recipients of the volumes. We are glad to see the taste for such bibliographic rarities on the increase, and trust that the example thus set by our New York friends will find imitators in New England, since many of the most valuable contributions to our history can only see the light through the liberality of a few generous patrons of this branch of literature.

An Historical Sketch of the Church Missionary Association of the Eastern District of the Diocese of Massachusetts. By the Rev. William Stevens Perry. Published by the request of the Association. Boston: 1859. pp. 39.

A well-written account of the labors of a society which has been a means of great good. We intend to notice this work more fully in a future number.

A Sermon preached October 31, 1858, the Sunday after the Fortieth Anniversary of his Ordination. By Alvan Lamson, D. D., Pastor of the First Church and Parish in Dedham. Boston: Crosby, Nichols and Company. 1859. 8vo. pp. 63.

In this discourse, Dr. Lamson, with becoming candor and pertinency, reviews his ministerial labors for the two score years he has been connected with the first church in Dedham. He is the seventh minister of that ancient society—the first five of whom died while sustaining the pastoral office. The average duration of their ministries was a fraction over thirty years. Rev. Jason Haven, the fifth minister, preached his fortieth anniversary sermon in 1796. The length of his pastorate was forty-seven years and seven months.

The public were before indebted to Dr. Lamson for his valuable discourses delivered November 18th, 1838, on the completion of the second century from the gathering of the First Church. Since the publication of those sermons, important additional information has been obtained, particularly in relation to the first three pastors of the church—Allin, Adams, and Belcher. Some of these facts are introduced into the appendix, which occupies more than one half the pamphlet. A copy of Mr. Allin's will is given, entire, illustrated with some appropriate historical and genealogical notes.

vacant chair at the table. His room, once so cheerful and attractive, is lonely, and the many keepsakes are put away. His friend steps in and out each day, with the same deep heartache for that pleasant and honored friend who has passed to those unknown realms.

He has gone from among us, but the gentle influence of his spotless life will remain. Long will the name of Harry Hayden be spoken with tenderness and sorrow by the citizens of Topeka who knew him.

REV. JOHN. A. STEELE.

Mr. Steele first saw the village of Topeka on the afternoon of October 9th, 1859. The three days following were passed at a hotel, then known as the Chase House, on Sixth street, since then the site of two or three separate and successive buildings, each one a hotel, and none of them as good as the first. The soul of the establishment from whose windows the earliest impressions were drawn was Mrs. Enoch Chase, still a resident of Topeka.

The weather of those days was probably not greatly unlike the weather of later times, but it seemed to be, and considerably better. That intervening Sunday was the yellowest, blue-haziest, calmest, that October ever brought. A boy stopping with the party at the Chase House was so captivated by it that he still uses it as a mental comparative for all that ought to be. A brief counseling together between the elder and the younger developed an agreement that if this was what was to be expected, even sometimes, it was thought that it would answer. It did answer for more than thirty years.

The town was then very much as though it had been indiscriminately dropped out of a blanket upon the rolling slopes that are now scarcely traceable. The name only seemed to be a thing of premeditation, though not traceable through the ordinary channels of thought. There were no walks, platforms, steps, grades or corners. About two small general stores furnished apparel, and one red grocery at the corner of Sixth and Kansas avenues, and another in or under "Constitution Hall," dealt out comestibles. But who knows anything about "Constitution Hall" or the "Museum Block" now? There seemed to be about three hundred inhabitants, but they served for a much larger number. Nearly all that now is was planted and fostered, or at least conceived and dreamed of, by them.

But so far as the parties concerned with this sketch are concerned, their time did not begin until about June 1st, 1860. From that date the flat, wet, unreclaimed, yet incomparably rich, prairies of Illinois knew them no more. They are now middle-aged men and matrons who were then children. There are grandchildren, two score or more, but "'60" will never be forgotten. From about the October mentioned until after the first anniversary thereof, it did not rain. The brown earth cracked wide. The little, new-planted trees waved and bent in the hot winds until they died. The Kaw crawled over its leagues of sand a diminished and crooked rivulet. The fuzzy brown grass, which was the town site's natural covering, and that was like enough to brown moss in the best of times, passed away so completely that the ridge whereon Taylor street now is, and where the female seminary stands, looked as though covered with a threadbare gray carpet. Nobody went away; that was strange. Nobody came, and that, in the expectant condition of the little town, was most unfortunate.

Yet during the heats and apprehensions of this summer of 1860 the First Presbyterian Church of Topeka was born. All the good things of the country may be called the children of vicissitude, and nearly all the great men were log-cabin nurselings. The event, how momentous only the angels know, occurred in a little ten-by-twelve room, up stairs, in that pretentious and euphonic "Museum Block," precisely over the northwestern corner of the primal drug store, which stood where Rowley's now is. There were present Mr. Steele's two eldest daughters with himself, and Mr. and Mrs. Conkling, and a stripling who was important to the occasion only in the material respects of first finding a key to the little room, providing for an illumination with a single kerosene lamp, in the middle of a long table of native walnut, and finally extinguishing, locking up again, and discharging himself as bailee in the matter of the key.

The founding of the First Presbyterian Church in Topeka was the event which connects Mr. Steele's name with the community. It was as the "morning" described by the vivid poetry of the Old Testament. He went forth weeping and sowing his seed, but he did not live to return in the evening "rejoicing, and bearing his sheaves with him." His was not the harvest.

As a man, disconnected from his calling, Mr. Steele was, not extraordinarily, but in a certain sense, and to a close observer, a remarkable man. He was more than six feet tall until infirmity and the world's burdens had borne upon his shoulders. He was bred in the early time of struggles and conquests over material crudity, and did not wear an habitual blandness. But he knew how to laugh, and appreciated the value of every story that had a moral. He was highly educated after the standard in vogue in his youth; classically, scholastically, though not widely read and speculative beyond the prescribed lines; and that something indescribable which flavors all the after life of every collegiate was very apparent in him. Had he been a business man he would have acquired wealth, and honestly and quickly. Had he been a politician he would at intervals have greatly astonished those opponents who trespassed. He came of a stock who have been frontiersmen and fighters and pioneers since a quarter of a century before the Revolution. His namesake and great-grandfather came from Donegal, Ireland, bringing with him five sons. But the stock was English-Irish and Protestant, and the mother of these five sons was so very Scotch that her maiden name was Elizabeth Ransom. Mr. Steele's grandfather was the Captain James Steele who figured at King's Mountain and the Cowpens, and who after the Revolution moved from Carolina to western Virginia because the snarling Tories, like the unconverted Copperheads who are still grumbling at the result of our later contest, made it so warm for him that he could not in peace stay there. East Tennessee and Kentucky and the hill country of the Carolinas are now sprinkled with relatives, or relatives of the stock, and they were almost universally for the flag with the thirty-four stars during the war, and will be found for faith and common country always.

Mr. Steele was born in 1801 in Greenbriar county, West Virginia. He was graduated at the University of Pennsylvania, and in theology at Princeton. He passed the years from 1837 to 1860 in Illinois, preaching over a wide extent of country outside of his own pastorate. He died at Topeka, in 1864. Such were the times that he was almost literally buried by women. Eighteen men, all citizens of the one small town, were killed together that same week, and sleep in one plat in its cemetery.

Mrs. Steele was Catharine Mary Hampton, to whom he was married while he was pastor of the church at Staunton, Virginia, in 1835. Mrs. Steele, a widow for a quarter of a century, died in March, 1890. There are yet living seven of her nine children, four of them with their children still residents of Topeka, and only two of the seven living out of Kansas. Within the circle of his descendants he stands a patriarchal figure, one of the few to whom it has been given to impress themselves even upon their own kindred.

Of the children of Rev. John A. Steele and Catharine M. Steele, the following data may be of interest:

Mary Elizabeth Steele was born in Staunton, Virginia; married to Rev. J. S. Park; now lives in Wamego, Kansas.

Margaret Hampton Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, September 20th, 1838; married to Silas W. Hampton; now lives in Memphis, Tennessee.

James W. Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, November 9, 1840; married to Augusta Butterfield; now lives in Chicago, Illinois.

The nameless one was born in Grandview, Illinois, November 8th, 1842; died at the age of four months.

Catharine M. Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, August 7th, 1844; married to Charles Whiting; is now a widow, and lives in Topeka.

John Chalmer Steele was born March 28th, 1847; died in 1860.

Robert Brown Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, September 22d, 1849; married to Mary Adams; now lives in Topeka.

Matilda Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, February 15th, 1852; married to James D. McFarland; now lives in Topeka.

Virginia Steele was born in Grandview, Illinois, August 30th, 1854; married to Charles Bodwell; now lives in Topeka.

JAMES W. STEELE.

After the war was ended James W. Steele returned to his home and mother. He had fared better than many, for flesh wounds and a sabre cut were all that he suffered. Civil life satisfied him for a little time, and then, soon after his marriage, he accepted an appointment in the regular army, and it was after his return from this last experience in army life that, though always fluent with his pen, he began his literary work, first in short sketches and as editor of the "Kansas Magazine," then on the "Sons of the Border." After a few years more, Captain Steele was sent as United States consul to Cuba, but although Cuban climate, ways and people may furnish much that is interesting to write about, Americans are not usually fond of living among them, and when his term expired, our American was more than pleased to make an abiding place once more in Topeka. And from that time to within the last few months he has made this his home. At this time, he and his family, wife and little daughter, are in Chicago, where he is pursuing his literary work with marked success.

MAJOR J. K. HUDSON.

Major J. K. Hudson, the editor of the Daily Capital, was born in Carrollton, Carroll county, Ohio, May 4, 1840. He is the eldest of six sons. His father was of English parentage, and his mother was Pennsylvania Dutch, her name being Rebecca Rothacker. They resided for forty years in Ohio. His father was a practical printer, and publisher of county papers in northern Ohio during his life. He was a strong advocate of the abolition of slavery, and a staunch Republican, and, with four sons, went through the late war. The subject of this sketch received his early education in the public schools of Salem, Ohio, learning the printing business in his father's office in Salem. The Anti-Slavery Bugle, one of the most radical anti-slavery journals, was published by his father in Salem. The call for troops, in 1861, spread over the country. Sumpter had fallen into the hands of the Southern slaveholders, and young Mr. Hudson left Salem in July, 1861, in company with Barkley, Cappock, and other companions. Arriving at Fort Leavenworth, he enlisted in the Third Regiment, Kansas Volunteers (Lane's brigade). He was a brave soldier, and soon began to receive attention from his commanding officers. From orderly sergeant he was promoted to second lieutenant of his company. He was again promoted to first lieutenant, and served as assistant adjutant general of the Second Brigade and First Division, Army of the Frontier; was on the staff of General Davies, at Rolla, Mo., and also a personal aide de camp to Major General Schofield. He was promoted to major of the First Mis-

THOMPSON

A.—THE LEXINGTON ALARM.

THE Revolutionary record of Connecticut opens with her response to the historic Lexington alarm of April 19, 1775, and closes eight years and a half later with the disbandment, after the Peace, of her last regiment in the field, in November, 1783.

The attitude assumed by the colonists at the beginning of the struggle was that of vigilance and self-defense. Alarmed by the determination of the home government, openly declared within recent years, to establish its authority more firmly in America, they entered vigorous protests against the new policy as tending to endanger certain privileges of their own, assured to them by charter or long enjoyment. While differing somewhat from each other, either in creed, temperament, descent, or manners, the people in the several colonies, or the great majority of them, stood politically, in 1775, on the common platform of non-interference in their local affairs. They advocated home-rule combined with loyalty to the general interests of the British Empire, which, in effect, represents the relations existing between England and her larger dependencies at the present day. In this sense the cause of any one of the American colonies was the cause of all. An attempt upon the privileges of one was a threat against all. An alarm sounded in one locality was bound to spread by common sympathy to every other.

In Connecticut, especially in her eastern section, this colonial spirit took deep root, and when Massachusetts, in 1774, was made the subject of restrictive measures by the home ministry, general indignation was aroused. As the possibility of a collision became apparent town meetings were held, contributions of money and provisions were voted for the distressed inhabitants of Boston, whose port had been closed by act of Parliament, non-intercourse with British merchants advised, a general congress representing all the colonies proposed, and Committees of Correspondence appointed to circulate all news of importance. A convention of delegates from the two counties of New London and Windham, held at Norwich, September 8, 1774, went further and recommended their towns to keep up their stock of ammunition and attend to the exercise of the train-bands. In the Assembly of the Colony, which in May, 1774, adopted resolutions protesting against the recent acts of Parliament touching America, the drift of events was so far recognized, that, in October, it required the selectmen of the towns to provide a double quantity of "powder, balls, and flint," and in January, 1775, ordered the entire militia to muster and drill once a week during the three months following. The situation was characterized as "an alarming crisis."

The crisis culminated on April 19, 1775. A detachment of British troops marching out from Boston to seize military stores alleged to have been collected at Concord for hostile purposes, was met upon the road by the Provincials and a bloody encounter took place. The since famous skirmishes of Lexington and Concord were fought, which precipitated the Revolutionary War. An "alarm" was immediately spread in every direction, so that on the 27th of April it had reached the principal points as far as Baltimore, and by the 11th of May was posted at Charleston, S. C. Throughout New England the news was rapidly carried by horse "expresses" from town to town. It was dispatched to Connecticut by the Massachusetts Committee of Safety at Watertown during the progress of the fighting, or "near ten o'clock" of Wednesday morning, April 19th: "The bearer, Israel Bessel, is charged to alarm the country quite to Connecticut, and all persons are desired to furnish him with fresh horses as they may be needed." During Thursday, the 20th, the news was circulating through the eastern part of the Colony. The people of Windham County received it nerally by noon. It reached Governor Trumbull at Lebanon not long after. It was doubtless at artford before night; at New Haven on the following evening, Friday, the 21st, and forwarded from there through Fairfield and Stamford to New York.

Prepared to a certain extent for such an alarm, a large number of able-bodied men in Connecticut hurried off to Massachusetts. The wording used in the records of the day, "marched for the relief of Boston," expresses alike the extent of their sympathies and the nature of the service intended. The response to the alarm was not the official action of the Colony, nor, on the other hand, an impromptu movement of individuals without previous organization. An "uprising" of armed men might have partaken of a mob character, and the militia regiments as such could only be called out by the governor or legislature. It was rather a movement of the townsmen marching under their militia organizations. The gathering thus became orderly as well as spontaneous, and represented the town spirit shown previously in protests and resolutions. It appears from the records that in some cases the companies or train-bands collected and marched off under their officers without further orders; in other cases, the colonels taking the lead, called out a certain number of their men and directed them to march forthwith to the point of danger; in a few cases volunteer companies were organized for the special service; in addition, many individuals, not belonging to the militia, joined in the march, either providing for themselves or going with the companies. Colonel Williams of the 11th Regiment, sends out word on the 20th, "that it will be expedient for every man to go who is fit and willing." A letter dated Wethersfield, April 23d, describes the scene there as follows: "We are all in motion here, and equipt from the Town yesterday, one hundred young men, who cheerfully offered their service, twenty-days' provision and sixty-four rounds per man. They are all well armed and in high spirits. My brother has gone with em and others of the first property. Our neighboring towns are all arming and moving. Men of first character shoulder their arms and march off for the field of action. We shall by night have several thousands from this Colony on their march. . . . . We fix on our Standards and Drums the Colony arms, with the motto 'qui transtulit sustinet,' round it in letters of gold, which we construe thus: 'God, who transplanted us hither, will support us.'" Writing from Wallingford, April 24th, Mr. James Lockwood says: "Col. Wadsworth was over at this place most of yesterday and has ordered twenty men out of each Company of his Regiment, some of which had already set off and others go this morning. . . . The Country beyond here are all gone." Nor were the Colony officials inactive. Upon receiving "the tragical narrative" from Massachusetts, Gov. Trumbull issued writs for a special meeting of the Assembly on the 26th, and the general Committee of Correspondence sent prompt assurance of assistance to President Hancock of the Massachusetts Provincial Congress. Writing from Lebanon on the 21st, the Committee say: "Every preparation is making to support your Province. . . . The ardour of our people is such that they can't be kept back. The Colonels are to forward part of the best men and the most ready, as fast as possible, the remainder to be ready at a moment's warning. These are the present movements with us."

The number of men who are reported in the records to have marched in the Lexington alarm was about four thousand. The duty was necessarily temporary and brief. Some of the companies returned home before reaching Boston, as their presence was not needed. Upon the organization of regiments for service during the year, many of the same men enlisted and continued for different terms during the war. At the May session of the Legislature their service was recognized and the men paid for the time as given on the following lists, the originals of which are on file in the State Library, Rev. War, Vol. II.

FIRST REGIMENT—GEN. WOOSTER'S—1775.

[Regiment raised on the first call for troops by the Legislature April-May, 1775. Recruited in New Haven Co. It marched, by request of the N. Y. Provincial authorities and the Continental Congress, to New York in latter part of June and encamped at Harlem. General Wooster and a small detachment guarded stock on Long Island during the summer. About Sept. 28, the regiment, under orders from Congress, marched to the Northern Department, Gen. Schuyler's, and took part in operations along Lakes George and Champlain. Assisted in the reduction of St. John's in Oct., and afterwards was stationed in part at Montreal. Adopted as Continental. Much sickness prevailed in the command and many soldiers were furloughed or mustered out in Oct.-Nov. Wooster organized a provisional regiment for service from Dec., '75, to the spring of '76, and about one hundred and fifty men enlisted from various regiments. See p. 44.]

NOTES ON THOMPSON FAMILIES OF CONNECTICUT

By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of New Haven, Conn.

THE earlier generations of the Thompson families of East Haven and of New Haven have been confused, and the published accounts are inaccurate without exception. The principal reason for this is that three John Thompsons in succession flourished in each family. Furthermore, considerable confusion has arisen with regard to their wives, due to the fact that John, Sr., of New Haven married Ellen Harrison, while the widow of the first John of East Haven married Thomas Harrison for her second husband. Consequently, Ellen has been assigned indiscriminately to three separate Johns. The following account of the two families may help to straighten matters.

THE THOMPSON FAMILY OF EAST HAVEN

1. JOHN[1] THOMPSON, "farmer," of East Haven, apparently was not related to the three brothers who founded the New Haven family. According to Dod's East Haven Register, the name of his wife was Ellen, and this has been followed by every succeeding account, including that in the Tuttle Genealogy (1883). She is referred to merely as "the widow" in the County Court Records, where many of the early Probate entries are to be found; but in the unindexed second volume of Proprietors' Records is a passage (p. 185) which distinctly calls her DOROTHY. There is no reason for disputing the correctness of this record, especially as two of her children, Rebecca (Thompson) Thomas and Nathaniel Harrison, named a daughter Dorothy. John Thompson's estate was inventoried in 1655 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 58), and he probably died in that year. His widow was unmarried in February 1656 (Proprietors' Records, vol. 2, p. 185), but shortly thereafter married Thomas Harrison of Branford, as his first wife. By him she had two sons, Thomas Harrison, born 1 Mar. 1657, and Nathaniel Harrison, born 13 Dec. 1658. It would seem that she did not long survive, for on 29 Mar. 1666, Thomas Harrison married his second wife, Elizabeth Stent. On 27 Jan. 1671, the children of John Thompson, farmer, deceased, made application for the distribution of their father's estate, mentioning their "father-in-law" Thomas Harrison as its custodian. Their names are given as John the eldest son, Joseph, Hannah, Mary, Rebeckah, Abigaile and Sarah; and Mathew Moulthrop and John Cooper, Jr., acknowledge the receipt of their wives' portions (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 36).

Children:

i. HANNAH,[2] m. 26 June 1662, MATTHEW MOULTHROP, who d. 1691; d. 1681.

2. JOHN[2] THOMPSON (John[1]), "farmer," of East Haven, married, 22 May 1666, PRISCILLA POWELL, daughter of Thomas, who died 18 Apr. 1726. He died 13 Feb. 1693. In his will of 13 Feb. 1693, probated June 1693, he mentions his wife, eldest son John, son Samuel, daughter Chidsey, and daughter Abigail (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 136).

Children:

i. JOHN,[3] b. 6 Aug. 1667; called "farmer" and sergeant; m. MERCY MANSFIELD, dau. of Moses and Mercy (Glover), b. 2 Apr. 1667, d. 9 Jan. 1745, who m. 3. JOSEPH[2] THOMPSON (John[1]) removed to Wallingford, Conn., where he married first, about 1683, MRS. ELIZABETH (LATHROP) ROYCE, widow of Isaac, who was born in 1648, and in 1669 married Isaac Royce, who died in 1682. She died before 1690, when Joseph Thompson is referred to as father-in-law of the Royce children (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 178). He married secondly, 22 Nov. 1694, MERCY JACOB. In Feb. 1704, administration on the estate of Joseph Thomson of Wallingford, deceased, was granted to Mr. John Moss and to Joseph Thomson, son of the deceased; and the estate was distributed to the widow Mercy, and to Joseph, John, and Hannah (County Court Records, vol. 2, p. 151).

THE THOMPSON FAMILY OF NEW HAVEN.

The New Haven family of Thompson was founded by three brothers, William, Anthony, and John. An attempt has been made to connect them with the Thompson family of Lenham, co. Kent, England. This Lenham myth has been set forth as a certainty in the History of Goshen (by A. G. Hibbard, 1897), in the Marks-Platt Ancestry (by E. J. Lines, 1902, pp. 46–50), and in several other accounts, and so far as known has never been refuted. Henry Thompson of Royton in Lenham married Dorothy Hony wood, and died 20 Oct. 1648, leaving, with other issue, sons John, William, and Anthony. The coincidence of names would seem promising, and it is not strange that somebody hastily conjectured their identity with the emigrants, but investigation overthrows the theory. According to William Berry's Pedigrees of the Families in the County of Kent (published in 1830, pp. 15–17), Anthony Thompson of Lenham was baptized 30 Aug. 1612, and died in England 13 Feb. 1682, leaving as heiress an only daughter. Moreover, John Thompson of Lenham was born in 1604, too early for John of New Haven, who was probably the youngest of the emigrant brothers. The Lenham brothers had three cousins, sons of Thomas Thompson of Pethem, co. Kent, likewise named John, William, and Anthony; but this John was a knight, and died in 1645 without issue. Furthermore, the evidence of chronology tends to show that the emigrants could not descend from Henry of Lenham or Thomas of Pethem in the following generation. At all events, the accepted pedigree must be abandoned.

1. WILLIAM[1] THOMPSON died unmarried in New Haven 24 Apr. 1683. In his will of 6 Oct. 1682 he calls himself "far stricken in years," and mentions his nephews Benjamin Broadly and brother Abraham Broadly; nephew John Thompson, son of brother Anthony; cousin John Thompson, Jr., son of nephew John abovesaid; cousin William Thompson, son of nephew John abovesaid; cousin Mary Lynes; sister Ellen Thompson; cousins Mary Lynes, Anna Broadlye, and Elizabeth Broadlye, daughters of sister Ellen Thompson; Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Benjamin Broadlye; and cousins Bridgett Bowers, Anna Stanton, and Lydia Cruttenden (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 192).

2. ANTHONY[1] THOMPSON died Sept. 1648. In his will of 23 Mar. 1647 he mentions his eldest son; second son, Anthony; daughter Bridget which he had by former wife; other daughters; wife; and brothers William and John (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 33). He married first ——— ———; and secondly KATHARINE ———, who married for her second husband, 14 July 1652, Nicholas Camp of Milford. The Proprietors' records contain several references to payment of portions to Anthony's children, by "Kattern Camp," the children mentioned being John, Hannah, Liddia, Ebenezer, Anthony, and Bridget (Proprietors' Records, vol. 2, pp. 91, 98, 114, 229).

Children by first wife:

~~4. i. JOHN.[2]~~

ii. ANTHONY, b. Dec. 1634; d. at Milford 29 Dec. 1654. In his will of 26 Dec. 1654 he names his brother John Thompson; his eldest sister, his father's daughter by his own mother; and his sisters, daughters of his father by his mother-in-law, goodwife Camp (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 55).

iii. BRIDGET, m. REV. JOHN BOWERS of Derby, who d. 14 June 1687; d. 19 May 1720.

Children by second wife:

iv. HANNAH, bapt. 8 June 1645; m. ——— STANTON.

v. LYDIA, bapt. 24 July 1647; m. (1) 20 Sept. 1665, ISAAC CRUTTENDEN of Guilford; m. (2) Dea. JOHN MEIGS; d. Dec. 1729.

5. vi. EBENEZER (posthumous), b. 15 Oct. 1648.

3. JOHN[1] THOMPSON, called "Senior" to distinguish him from his nephew the "Mariner," married, 25 Feb. 1650, ELLEN HARRISON, probably a sister of the Thomas Harrison who married the widow of John Thompson of East Haven. He died 14 Dec. 1674, and on 9 June 1675 "Ellin ye relict" presented the inventory of his estate, which was distributed to herself, to Samuel Lines in right of Mary his wife, to Abraham Bradlye in right of Hanna his wife, to Elizabeth, and to "the younger daughter" (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 86). His widow died 8 Apr. 1690, and in her will of Oct. 1689 she mentions her daughters Mary, Hannah, and Elizabeth, her sons-in-law Abraham and Benjamin Bradlye, and her grandchild Sarah daughter of her daughter Elizabeth (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 41).

Children:

i. MARY,[2] b. 24 Apr. 1652; m. (1) Nov. 1674, SAMUEL LINES, b. Apr. 1649, d. 1692; m. (2) JOHN HITCHCOCK of Wallingford, who d. 6 July 1716; m. (3) 18 Apr. 1717, SAMUEL CLARK.
ii. ANNE, or HANNAH, b. 22 Sept. 1654; m. 25 Dec. 1673, ABRAHAM BRADLEY, b. 24 Oct. 1650, d. 19 Oct. 1718; d. 26 Oct. 1718.
iii. ELIZABETH, b. 3 June 1657; m. 29 Oct. 1677, BENJAMIN BRADLEY, b. 8 Apr. 1657, d. 1728; d. 3 Nov. 1718.
iv. LYDIA, b. 13 Mar. 1664; evidently "the younger daughter" referred to in 1675; d. before 1689 and probably before 1682, as she is not mentioned in her uncle William's will.
v. SARAH, b. 25 Mar. 1667; d. 1669.

4. JOHN[2] THOMPSON (2. Anthony[1]), called "Mariner," has usually been assigned a wife Ellen or Hellena (cf. History of Goshen, and Genealogical History of Connecticut, 1911, p. 1000). This is an error, and the only wife of John who appears on record was ANNE VICARS, or VICARIS. On 25 Feb. 1657, John Tompson entered an action against the estate of John Roberts, part of which was then in the hands of Mr. Wakeman, on the ground that there had been a treaty of marriage betwixt the said John Roberts and Ann Vicars (now wife to the said John Tompson), and that her former betrothed had by word of mouth left his estate to Ann (Hoadley, Records of the Jurisdiction of New Haven, vol. 2, p. 198). It should be noted that John Wakeman's wife, Elizabeth Hopkins, had a first cousin Ann, daughter of Walter Vicaris (see the will of William Hopkins of Bewdley, Worcestershire, given in the Wakeman Genealogy, p. 30). John Thompson died 2 June 1707, and the inventory of "Mr. John Thompson, Marriner, late decd," was presented 28 Oct. 1707 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 116). In the absence of any distribution of the estate, it is difficult to place his daughters with certainty. Most of his land had been deeded in the later years of his life to his sons John, Joseph, Samuel, and William (New Haven Deeds, vols. 2 and 3). There is no difficulty in identifying the first three, but there seems to have been considerable misapprehension as to the identity of William. This problem is considered below under William Thompson (no. 9). There is no proof that Ann Vicars was mother of all the children, but no other wife has been found.

Children:

6. i. JOHN,[3] b. 12 May 1657.
ii. ANNE, m. 10 May 1688, CALEB CHIDSEY of East Haven, b. 20 Nov. 1661, d. 1713; she d. before 6 July 1693, when Caleb m. his second wife, Hannah Dickerman. She left no children; and there is no reason for assuming that she was daughter of "John the mariner," except that it is difficult to place her anywhere else, and it seems natural that he should have a daughter named for her mother. Perhaps she is identical with the unnamed child (iv.) below.

7. iii. JOSEPH, b. 4 Apr. 1664.
iv. A CHILD, b. Sept. 1667.
8. v. SAMUEL, b. 12 May 1669.
vi. SARAH, b. 16 Jan. 1672; m. 25 Nov. 1702, JOHN MIX, b. 25 Aug. 1676, d. 10 Dec. 1721; d. 21 Nov. 1711.
9. vii. WILLIAM, b. 17 Jan. 1674.
viii. MARY, b. 16 May 1678.

5. EBENEZER[2] THOMPSON (2. Anthony[1]), born 15 Oct. 1648, settled at Guilford, Conn., where he died in 1676. He married, June 1671, DEBORAH DUDLEY, born 20 Sept. 1647, died before 1682, who married secondly Thomas Scranton of Guilford. In his will of 16 Aug. 1676 (inventory taken 6 Nov. 1676) he called himself about 28 years old, and named his wife Deborah, son John, and two brethren, John Tompson and Isaac Cruttenden (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, pt. 2, p. 65). On 14 June 1682 is the following record of the estate of Ebenezer Thompson: "the relict (afterwards married to Thomas Scranton, but since deceased) leaving a child of her first husband's (called John Thompson) in his minority, now about eight years old, the court appoints skipper John Thompson of New Haven, Isaac Cruttenden and Joseph Dudley of Guilford, guardians" (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 135).

Children:

i. JABEZ,[3] b. 16 Oct. 1672; d. young.
10. ii. JOHN, b. Nov. 1674.

6. LIEUT. JOHN[3] THOMPSON (John,[2] Anthony[1]), born 12 May 1657, married, 9 May 1682, REBECCA DANIEL, daughter of Stephen and Anna (Gregson), who was born 30 Jan. 1657, and appears to have been living as late as 1749. According to his gravestone, he died 15 Nov. 1711. Administration on his estate was granted 18 Dec. 1711, to the widow Rebecah and to Daniell Thomson, son of the deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 301). The estate was divided to the widow, Daniel the eldest son, Anne, Rebeckah, Elisabeth, John, and Anthony (Ibid, vol. 4, p. 55).

Children:

i. ANN,[4] b. 20 Mar. 1683; m. 4 May 1711, THOMAS IVES of North Haven, b. 22 Aug. 1683, d. 5 May 1767. Their descendants removed to Great Barrington, Mass.
11. ii. DANIEL, b. 31 Oct. 1685.
iii. REBECCA, bapt. 24 Apr. 1689; m. 20 Dec. 1716, CALEB MIX, b. 27 Sept. 1687, d. 30 Jan. 1765; d. 3 Dec. 1760.
iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. 26 Apr. 1693; m. 31 Jan. 1716, JOHN BASSETT; d. 3 Sept. 1756.
v. JOHN, b. 15 Oct. 1696; d. after 1712, without issue. On 22 July 1733, Thomas and Ann Ives, Caleb and Rebeckah Mix, John and Elizabeth Bassett, and Anthony Thompson deeded to their brother Daniel Thompson all right in their father Thompson's and brother John Thompson's estates (New Haven Deeds, vol. 29, p. 520).
vi. ANTHONY, b. 22 Sept. 1700; resided at Mt. Carmel; m. (1) 20 Apr. 1727, SARAH PECK, b. 21 Mar. 1705; m. (2) SARAH PARDEE, b. 5 Nov. 1719; d. abt. 1786. On 27 Apr. 1763, Anthony and Sarah Thompson deeded land that their two brothers, Ebenezer and Benjamin Pardee, quitclaimed to Sarah (New Haven Deeds, vol. 26, p. 232). In his will of 23 Feb. 1769 he named his present wife, and his kinsman Anthony son of John Thompson (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 15, p. 83). He evidently left no issue, and during his lifetime deeded much of his property to his grandnephew Anthony (New Haven and Hamden Deeds).

7. JOSEPH[3] THOMPSON (John,[2] Anthony[1]) of West Haven, born 4 Apr. 1664, died 14 Dec. 1711 (gravestone record). He was a sergeant, and received by deed his father's West Haven property. He married, 2 Feb. 1697, ELIZABETH SMITH, daughter of John and Grace (Winston), who was born 1 Aug. 1675, and died 14 Nov. 1743 (gravestone record, West Haven). Administration on the estate of "Clark" Joseph Thompson was granted to his widow 6 May 1712 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 4, p. 36). The children's names are given as Anna, aged 14, Joseph, aged 9, Stephen, aged 5, and Jonathan, aged 3. An interesting deed granting a right of way, dated 1 Feb. 1770, names grantors Daniel Thomas, Asa Smith, Jonathan Thompson, Ebenezer Humphrevile and wife Esther, John Johnson, Jr., and wife Mabel, Moses Pardee and wife Mary, Titus Beecher and wife Elizabeth, Bethia and Jeduthan Thompson, and Benajah Thomas (New Haven Deeds, vol. 30, p. 434). All of these, except the two Thomases, were heirs of Joseph Thompson through his sons Joseph and Stephen.

Children:

i. ANNA,[4] b. 17 Feb. 1697; m. 3 Feb. 1726, EBENEZER CLARK, b. 5 Aug. 1695; d. before 1761.
12. ii. JOSEPH, b. 5 Mar. 1703.
13. iii. STEPHEN, b. 3 Dec. 1705.
iv. JONATHAN, b. 3 Apr. 1709; d. 31 Jan. 1725 (gravestone, West Haven).
v. EBENEZER (posthumous), b. 21 June 1712; m. 20 Mar. 1734, ESTHER STEVENS, dau. of Thomas and Amy (Smith), b. 17 May 1715. The births of three children are recorded to them at New Haven: Ebenezer,[5] 15 Jan. 1735; John, 18 Feb. 1737; Amy, 28 July 1739. The family removed to Scituate, Mass. On 20 Oct. 1756, Ebenezer Thompson, clerk, of Scituate, Mass., deeded land in West Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 20, p. 203).

8. SAMUEL[3] THOMPSON (John,[2] Anthony[1]), born 12 May 1669, died 26 Mar. 1749. He was a captain, and lived at Westville, but purchased property at Goshen, Conn., where several of his sons settled. He married, 14 Nov. 1695, REBECCA BISHOP, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Tompkins), who was born 10 Dec. 1673, and died 5 Apr. 1734 (gravestone record).

Children:

i. SAMUEL,[4] b. 2 Dec. 1696; m. 20 Jan. 1719, ESTHER ALLING, dau. of Samuel and Sarah (Chidsey), b. 10 Jan. 1699; removed to Goshen, and later to Stanford, N. Y. Children, recorded at New Haven: Elizabeth,[5] b. 17 Oct. 1719; Samuel, b. 15 Dec. 1722; Sarah, b. 22 Apr. 1725; Esther, b. 3 May 1728.
14. ii. JAMES, b. 5 June 1699.
iii. AMOS, b. 3 Mar. 1702; m. 7 Sept. 1726, SARAH ALLING, dau. of Samuel and Sarah (Sackett), b. 25 Apr. 1702; removed to Stanford, N. Y., and lines of descent from him are given in American Ancestry (vol. 2, pp. 51, 126). Children, recorded at New Haven: Alling,[5] b. 2 June 1727; Rebecca, b. 28 Apr. 1729; Amos, b. 7 Aug. 1731.

David, b. 1 Dec. 1731; Stephen, b. 20 Apr. 1734; Lydia, b. 16 Oct. 1736; Gideon, b. 5 Apr. 1739. His descendants are given in the History of Goshen.
v. REBECCA, b. 23 Feb. 1708; m. 11 Feb. 1731, DAVID AUSTIN, b. 25 Oct. 1703, d. 28 Aug. 1759; d. 26 Feb. 1739.
vi. JUDAH, b. 10 June 1711; d. 1 Aug. 1712.
vii. JUDAH, b. 5 Oct. 1713. On 16 Aug. 1745, Samuel[3] Thompson deeded land to his son Judah, of New Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 12, p. 440), but what became of him afterwards has not been ascertained. In the Second Congregational Church Records the marriage is recorded, 14 Feb. 1759, of a Judah Thompson to Sarah Morris, who was b. 15 Mar. 1737, the town records giving the birth of a daughter Rebecca in 1760, and the church records a son Judah, bapt. in 1764.
viii. ENOS, b. 18 Aug. 1717; m. 2 Apr. 1741, SARAH HITCHCOCK. On 20 May 1752, Enos Thompson "of Smithfield in the great nine partners in Dutchis County in ye province of New York" deeded land to Hannah Thompson of New Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 17, p. 57). Children, recorded at New Haven: Israel,[5] b. 7 Mar. 1742; Rebecca, b. 30 June 1744; Enos, b. 26 July 1746; Jesse, b. 14 Nov. 1749. A grandson, according to the Tuttle Genealogy (p. 704), was Enos Thompson Throop, governor of New York.

9. WILLIAM[3] THOMPSON (John,[2] Anthony[1]) was born 17 Jan. 1674. That "John the mariner" had a son William is proved by two deeds to the latter, and by mention of him in the will of William[1] Thompson (no. 1) in 1682; but there has been considerable doubt as to his identity, as there were two Williams who could be eligible. One, called William, Sr., was a man of some importance, is called "joiner" and "surveyor" in deeds, and frequently had "Mr." prefixed to his name; he married in 1682 Joanna Daniel, widow of John Glover, and died in 1741. The other, called William, Jr., married before 1708 Martha ———, and died in 1717. The obvious theory is that William, "Sr.," was one of the oldest sons of John, and that William, "Jr.," was son of William "Sr.," but this hypothesis, which is generally accepted, proves untenable. The chronology of William, Sr's, recorded family leaves no room for the birth of a son William. Moreover, William, Sr., deeded no land to William, Jr., nor did he mention him or his heirs in his will, wherein he made careful provision for his sons. Nor do the heirs of William, Jr., appear in deeds in which all the heirs of William, Sr., appear; but there is positive evidence to prove that William, Jr., was son of John the mariner. First: William, son of John Thompson, was born 17 Jan. 1674, which is much too late for the birth of William, Sr.; secondly: John the mariner deeded to his son William, along with other land, one-third part of his whole division and tract of land (1702), which property was afterwards (1707) deeded away by William Thompson, husbandman (New Haven Deeds, vol. 3, pp. 21, 34), showing that John's son William was a farmer, whereas William, Sr., always appears as joiner or surveyor; thirdly: the other land deeded by John the mariner to his son William (New Haven Deeds, vol. 3, pp. 21, 22) is to be found mentioned in the inventory of William, Jr. (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 1); and finally: Caleb Thompson, who is known to be a son of William, Jr., deeded land that was laid out to his father William Thompson, deceased, and other land that was laid out to his grandfather John Thompson, deceased (New Haven Deeds, vol. 8, p. 331). The only question that could remain is whether, as sometimes happened, John could have had two sons named William, but the evidence is against it, for in John's deed to William he is referred to as his "son William." Also, the will of William[1] Thompson (no. 1), wherein he mentioned his "cousin William, son of nephew John," would have distinguished between them if there had been two sons named William.

William, Jr., who died 13 Mar. 1717, married MARTHA ———, who died after 1755. His estate was not settled until 1730 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 1).

Children:

i. CALEB,[4] b. 15 Sept. 1708. On 7 Nov. 1726, he chose Capt. Samuel Thomson his guardian (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 5, p. 320). He had, probably with other issue, children: 1. Abraham,[5] bapt. 13 June 1738; d. 12 Dec. 1739 (gravestone record). 2. Abraham, b. 28 Aug. 1740; m. (1) 13 June 1758, Rachel Warner; m. Several accounts, including the History of Goshen, state that after the death of Hannah he went to Wallingford, and married Sarah Culver in 1710, but the John who married Sarah Culver belonged to the East Haven family (no. 3, ii), and there is ample evidence that John of Branford was still living there as late as 1726 (County Court Records, vol. 3, p. 206). Whether he had another wife is not known, but by Hannah he had

Children:

i. DEBORAH,[4] b. 9 Mar. 1703.

11. ENS. DANIEL[4] THOMPSON (John,[3] John,[2] Anthony[1]), born 31 Oct. 1685, lived in the parish of Amity, now the town of Woodbridge, Conn. He married, 16 Jan. 1717, MARY BALL, daughter of John and Sarah (Glover), born 22 Oct. 1694, died 11 May 1776, aged 82 (gravestone record, Woodbridge). He died 26 Nov. 1766 (gravestone record, New Haven), and his will of 10 Apr. 1758, proved

Mar. 1767, referred to his father John Thompson, deceased, and named his wife Mary, eldest son John, sons James, Jabez, Daniel, and Eliphalet, daughter Ann, and granddaughter Mabel the daughter of his son John. His wife, and sons James and Daniel, are named as executors; but Mary and Daniel appeared and refused the trust (James seems to have died), so administration was granted to the son Jabez of Derby (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 10, p. 283).

On 5 Apr. 1768, Daniel Thompson of Farmington deeded to his brother John and sister Ann of New Haven, and brother Jabez of Derby, all right in Amity from his father (New Haven Deeds, vol. 29, p. 402). THE WILLIAM THOMPSON FAMILY

1. WILLIAM[1] THOMPSON of New Haven, called "Sr.," has generally been considered a son of "John the mariner," of the foregoing family. Under William[3] Thompson (no. 9, preceding), I have stated the facts that invalidate that claim. Since three of his daughters married Stratford men, it might be conjectured that he sprang from the Thompson family of that town, but there seems to be no place for him there. His early appearance in New Haven, the name William, and the fact that his wife's sister married a son of John the mariner, all tend to connect him with the New Haven family, though there seems to be no place for him there, and for the present he is left unplaced..

He is called joiner and surveyor in deeds, and the County Court Records show that he was frequently called on for jury duty and for surveying. He was styled "Mr.," and was appointed Master of the Excise for New Haven County (County Court Records, vol. 2, p. 394; p. 486 in the modern copy). On 28 Dec. 1682, he married Mrs. JOANNA (DANIEL) GLOVER, daughter of Stephen and Anna (Gregson), and widow of John, born 1 Sept. 1652. She married first, 7 Dec. 1671, John Glover, who was baptized 8 Oct. 1648, and died 29 Jan. 1679, by whom she had four children, two of whom also married in Stratford.

William[1] died before 6 Apr. 1741, when (the person nominated in the will being dead) administration on his estate was granted to Josiah Thompson. In his will of 2 July 1728 he named his wife Joanna, and daughters Jane, Abigail, and Sarah; his son Josiah was to be provided for by deed, and Stephen had been given his portion, so Benjamin was to receive the residue. His wife and son Benjamin were named executors (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 329).

Children:

i. JANE,[2] b. 29 Oct. 1683; m. 22 Dec. 1707, JOHN MOSS of Stratford, b. 7 Jan. 1677, d. 1724; d. 28 Sept. 1743.
ii. ABIGAIL, b. 18 Oct. 1685; m. 11 Dec. 1707, RICHARD HUBBELL of Stratford, b. 25 Jan. 1684.
iii. MARY, b. 13 Sept. 1687; m. 4 Mar. 1708, JOHN HITCHCOCK, b. 28 Jan. 1685, d. 14 Oct. 1753; d. 27 Feb. 1709.
2. iv. JOSIAH, b. 31 Dec. 1689.
v. SARAH, bapt. 19 Jan. 1692; m. (1) 15 Nov. 1715, TIMOTHY FAIRCHILD of Stratford, b. 9 Dec. 1687, d. 23 Nov. 1726; m. (2) 12 July 1729, Ens. WILLIAM PEAT, b. 1 May 1694, d. 1761.

vi. STEPHEN, b. 12 July 1695; d. unm. 6 Aug. 1732 (gravestone record). On 6 Apr. 1733, administration on the estate was granted to Josiah Thompson, brother of the deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 107). On 29 May 1739, Richard and Abigail Hubbell, William and Sarah Peat, and Jane Moss of Stratford, and John Hitchcock, Jr., of New Haven, coheirs of the estate of Stephen Thompson, deceased, deeded to John Umphrevile their right in land where their aforesaid deceased brother lived, and since his death conveyed by their brother Josiah Thompson to said John Umphrevile (New Haven Deeds, vol. ii, p. 45).
vii. BENJAMIN, b. 12 July 1698; d. unm. 20 Sept. 1734 (gravestone record).

2. JOSIAH[2] THOMPSON (William[1]), born 31 Dec. 1689, died 5 May 1774 (First Congregational Church Records). He married (not recorded) ELIZABETH MILES, daughter of Lieut. Richard and Hannah (Easton), who was born 10 Sept. 1695. She is called Elizabeth Thompson in her father's will, dated 24 Jan. 1756 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 8, p. 560). The death of Elizabeth, wife of Josiah Thompson, aged 75, is recorded in the First Congregational Church Records, 1 Mar. 1771. It is difficult to trace his children.

Children:

i. MARY,[3] m. 24 Aug. 1738, DANIEL TALMADGE. Her place in the family seems likely from the names of her children: William, Josiah, and Elizabeth.
ii. ELIZABETH, m. 23 Nov. 1740, TIMOTHY ANDREWS, b. 1 Apr. 1713, d. 1742. Timothy Thompson was guardian to her son Elijah (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 9, p. 165).
iii. TIMOTHY. On 12 June 1762, Josiah Thompson deeded land to his son Timothy (New Haven Deeds, vol. 26, p. 391).
iv. SARAH, m. Aug. 1760, RICHARD HOOD. On 23 Feb. 1771, Josiah Thompson deeded land to his son-in-law Richard Hood (New Haven Deeds, vol. 31, p. 377).

Their children y^t were in minority when He joyned, are, Abigail, now living at Dedham; Deborah, now also at Dedham, and Sarah now dwelling at Braintree. The eldest of these aged twelve, y^e 2^d ten, 3^d seven years, when their Parents joyned, being all baptized in England."

Sarah (Shepard) Tomson died at Braintree, Mass., Jan. 15, 1679, æt. 43, and would therefore be seven years of age in 1643, and in this year, May 10, Edward was made a freeman at Cambridge. (It was necessary to be a member of the church to be made a freeman.) From the same record:

"Mary, now the wife of the foresaid Edward Shepard, was dismissed hither from Ch. at Dorchester, and is in f. c. with us. Her dau. Mary Pond baptized at Dorchester, was eleven years old at her mother's joyning with us."

GEN. OF CONNECTICUT PIONEERS

We have no record of their marriage, but Violet Shepard died Jan. 9, 1648–9. The daughter of Mary Pond married John Blackman, and their first child was born Aug. 10, 1656. We may therefore conclude that Mrs. Mary Pond lived at Cambridge before her marriage with Edward Shepard, a conclusion the more probable because her first husband, Robert Pond, died in 1637; that it is also probable that she brought other children with her to Cambridge, and that Daniel Pond, who married Abigail Shepard, was her son. Edward Shepard's name, as also that of his son John Shepard, appears in the town and county records in various relations until 1680–81, when his will was proven Aug. 20, 1680, and John sold the homestead Sept. 18, 1681, to Owen Warland.

That he was a mariner appears from his own assertion in deeds—to Richard Champney, March 19, 1652; and to W. Fessenden, Feb. 18, 1679, and in his will dated Oct. 1, 1674. Also from mention made in the record of the steward of Harv. Coll. 1654, of two importations of wheat "from aboard Ed. Shephearde's vessel."

We have no means of determining the date of his death other than the deed to W. Fessenden, 1679, and the proving of his will, 1680. The original is on file at the Middlesex Probate office, East Cambridge, Mass., and the will is also on record there. It is as follows:

"In the name of God, Amen. Know y^{ee} that I Edward Shipheard of Cambridge, New England, mariner, being through the favor of God arrived unto old age expecting daily my change, I account it my duty to set my house in order: and therefore do hereby make and declare this instrument for my last will and testament, 1: I commit my immortal soul into the hands of the Lord God Almighty, the only living and true God: distinguished into three glorious persons, The Father, Son and Holy Ghost; resting and relying on the merits, righteousness and satisfaction of my dear Lord Jesus Christ for life and salvation. 2, that concerning my body my will is y^t it be decently interred resting in hope y^t by the virtue of Christ's Resurrection it shall in God's appointed time be raised up again and united to my soul and both soul and body in one man be translated to eternal happiness and there to live with God and praise him forever. Lastly, concerning my temporal estate my will is that that which shall be and remain after my death, my will is y^t my just debts and funeral expenses, being first paid, the remainder to be disposed of as followeth, Imp^t—I give and bequeath unto my dear wife Mary either the sum of twenty pounds to be paid her by my executors within three months after my decease in such household goods and other things as may be suitable for her at equal prices as two honest men shall judge or in case of difference to be determined by the County Court, or else the use of my dwelling house barn and orchard y^t lie on the north side of the Street during her life, provided she keep the same in tenantable repair, all the rest of my estate my will and order is y^t it be divided into six equal parts—two parts I give and bequeath unto my son John Shipard, or in case of his death before mee, then equally to be divided among his children: unto my dau. Elizabeth one sixth part or in case of her death before, then equally to be divided among her children; unto my dau. Deborah one sixth part, and in case of her death before mee then equally to be divided among her children: unto the children of Daniel Pond which he had by my dau. Abigail deceased one sixth part equally divided; unto my dau. Sarah one sixth part, or in case of her death before me then equally divided among her children & I do hereby nominate and appoint my dear son John Shipard my executor of this will, and in case he should decease before me y^n I do appoint his eldest son my executor, In testimony of the truth hereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this first day of Oct. 1674.

Signed sealed and declared EDWARD SHEPHARD.

In presence of us,
Daniel Gookin Sen.

"Any woman is eligible for membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution who is not less than eighteen years of age, and who is descended from a man or woman who, with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American Independence, served as a sailor, or as a soldier or civil officer in one of the several Colonies or States, or in the United Colonies or States, or as a recognized patriot, or rendered material aid thereto; provided the applicant is personally acceptable to the Society." (Constitution, Article III, Section 1.)

*Marriage in every instance in this paper means legal and lawful marriage.

ANCESTOR'S SERVICES

My ancestor's services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution were as follows:

At the Lexington alarm in April 1775, Major Jabez Thompson and Capt Nathaniel Johnson marched from Derby with 32men, and it has been thought probable that this company was at Bunker Hill, but there is a record that on the 23d of July "the Derby Company passed through Hartford from their station at New Haven on their way to Cambridge" See p 45 Hinman, Wcr of the American Revolution.

The town of Derby selected, on Dec11, 1775 a "Committee of Inspection" and Col Jebez Thompson was a member of the committee (see 1/5 History of Derby.)

Jabez Thompson was appointed Lt. Col of the 2d Regiment of militia in May 1775 by the General Assembly. See 2a Ser doc, 222/, militia papers, Conn. archives).

Lt. Col Jabez Thompson, with Col M. Talcott and Maj. Silvamus Graves commanded one of the two Conn. Regts. formed from the various Conn Regts and sent to Washington's Army in 1776. This regiment was exposed to the first attack of the enemy on Newyork, Sept 15, 1776, and contributed to the panic at Kips Bay. (See p 448 Johnston). It was in this action that Lt. Col Jabez Thompson of Derby, commanding the second regiment was killed (see pp 432 & 449 Conn in the Revol by Henry P. Johnston, L/C E263 C5C5 1775-1783)

The said Jabez Thompson

is the ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence, while acting in the capacity of Lt. Col, 2d Regt Conn. He was killed Sept 15, 1776 while in command of his unit.

(Constitution, Article III, Section 1.)

ANCESTOR'S SERVICES

My ancestor's services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution were as follows:

At the Lexington alarm in April 1775, Major Jabez Thompson and Capt Nathaniel Johnson marched from Derby with 32men, and it has been thought probable that this company was at Bunker Hill, but there is a record that on the 23d of July "the Derby Company passed through Hartford from their station at New Haven on their way to Cambridge" See p 45 Hinman, War of the American Revolution.

The town of Derby selected, on Dec11, 1775 a "Committee of Inspection" and Col Jebez Thompson was a member of the committee (see 1775 History of Derby.)

Jabez Thompson was appointed Lt. Col of the 2d Regiment of militia in May 1775 by the General Assembly. See 2d Ser doc, 2227, militia papers, Conn. archives).

Lt. Col Jabez Thompson, with Col M. Talcott and Maj. Silvamus Graves commanded one of the two Conn. Regts. formed from the various Conn Regts and sent to Washington's Army in 1776. This regiment was exposed to the first attack of the enemy on NewYork, Sept 15, 1776, and contributed to the panic at Kips Bay. (See p 448 Johnston). It was in this action that Lt. Col Jabez Thompson of Derby, commanding the second regiment was killed (see pp 432 & 449 Conn in the Revol by Henry P. Johnston, L/C E263 C7C7 1775-1783)

The said Jabez Thompson

is the ancestor who assisted in establishing American Independence, while acting in the capacity of Lt. Col, 2d Regt Conn. He was killed Sept 15, 1776 while in command of his unit.
